Pearlington residents came in all types of vehicles to bring non-hazardous household rubbish to the West Hancock Volunteer Fire Station Saturday morning. Assistant Fire Chief Leonard Valentine, left, and Hancock County Road Crew Leader Jay Verdin unload a trailer load of miscellaneous non-hazardous rubbish onto a county dump truck. The special collection is part of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Spring Clean-up in cooperation with the Board of Supervisors. A special collection will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. on Sat., April 10 at the Ballfield on Highway 603 at 53; Sat., April 17, Leetown Ballfield, Leetown Road and Necaise-Caesar Roads; Sat., Apr. 24, at Former Wal-Mart Building Parking Lot, Highway 90, Waveland; and on Sat., May 1, Diamondhead Shopping Center. The special collection does include tires.

Schools struggle with uncertain funding at contract renewal time

BY EMILY WAGSTER
PETTUS

Associated Press Writer
JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—With the state education budget still in limbo for the coming year, school officials are juggling numbers to see how many teacher contracts they can afford to renew.

"We're spending too much time addressing the funding issues when we should be addressing issues of instruction and many other issues planning for next year," Simpson County schools superintendent Jack McAlpin said Wednesday.

Thursday is the deadline for principals to make hiring recommendations for next school year, and teachers must be offered contracts by April 15. Legislators still haven't agreed on how much money the state will spend for public schools in the fiscal year that starts July 1.

The House passed a $2 billion bill last week designed to cover most K-12 education needs, including an 8 percent teacher pay raise. But the Senate has not yet acted on the bill or offered its own plan.

A recommendation made by the Joint Legislative Budget Committee in December would leave schools $161 million short of what education officials say is needed. Republican Gov. Haley Barbour picked up that recommendation for his overall budget.

Ed Mosley, assistant superintendent of Lauderdale County schools, said at least 30 of the district's 456 teaching jobs could be in jeopardy because of unanswered funding questions.

"We're waiting until the last minute," Mosley said.

"If we don't know anything on funding by April 15, we're making plans to non-renew some teachers."

Speaking Wednesday at a luncheon sponsored by 100 Black Men and 100 Black Women of Jackson, Barbour said he expects schools to receive more money than he or the Budget Committee have recommended, but he didn't say how much more.

Five experts will meet soon to evaluate state economic trends to see if legislators can raise the revenue estimate for the coming budget year. If that happens, more money will be available to spend.

"When I ran for governor, I said we need stable funding for education," Barbour said. "They need to know that when we appropriate the money, it really is going to be there, and I'm going to fight for that."

"A lot of people are going to say, 'Got to be more. Got to be more. Got to be more,'" he said. "It's got to be money that's really there. Funny money, money that isn't there when you have to present the check at the bank, is wrong policy and wrong leadership to allow it."

Lawmakers have until early May to work out final details of the overall $3.6 billion state budget. The House budget plan relies on some fee increases, and Barbour says he opposes raising any taxes or fees.

Teachers and school administrators say it's tough to face uncertain funding when contracts are up for renewal.

"I'm extremely worried," said Kenitra Barnes, a first-year teacher at South Jones Elementary School.

She said she and another new teacher met

Wednesday with their principal and were told it could be months before the district lets them know about job renewal.

"I'm planning to start graduate school this summer," Barnes said. "I'm worried that I might have all these bills and no paycheck."

Beverly Sanders, president of the Mississippi Association of Educators, said new teachers are most vulnerable when school districts face budget shortages.

"That even makes me shudder to think that's the message we're sending when we're trying to recruit young people into the profession," Sanders said.

Three coast kids get Disney Wish

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Three Kids from across the Coast depart for their dream destination - Disney World. Brent is 4 years-old and lives in Bay St. Louis and is battling Hodgkin's Lymphoma, Kara, who is 11 years-old and suffers from Arthrogryposis is from Long Beach, and Aaron is a 5 years-old from Pascagoula and he is battling Wilms' tumor.

Although they are all fighting different diseases they all have one thing in common. Brent, Kara, Aaron and their families want to forget about being sick and just have fun. And that is just what all three families will do during their exciting six day, seven night adventure to all of the Disney theme parks, as well as, Universal Studios and Sea World.

On Tuesday, March 30, Brent, Kara and Aaron were given a wish party at Chuck E. Cheese in Gulfport, where family and friends shared in their excitement.

Make-A-Wish volunteers Kim Billings, Dorothy Reddix, Verna Walker and Gulf Coast Director Shellie Moses presented the three Coast kids with their itinerary, expense money and much more for his magical trip to Orlando. Brent's wish is being sponsored by Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Mississippi. Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Mississippi is a long time friend and supporter of the Make-A-Wish Foundation and has granted wishes across the state for many years.

Kara's wish is being sponsored by Long Beach Middle School and Lopez Elementary School. These two schools participated in the Foundations Kids for Wish Kids program and raised over $5,000. This is the first year for Long Beach Middle School and the third year of Lopez Elementary School to raise money to grant the wish of a child.

Aaron's was sponsored by the Masons of Mississippi.

The Masons have raised over $35,000 with the help of the Eastern Star and the Rainbow Girls for Make-A-Wish over the last two years through various fundraisers across the state. These funds are used to grant wishes for children like Aaron.

"Being able to send three kids from each of the three Coast counties at one time is incredible!" We are forever grateful for these sponsors for participating in our Wish Maker program, through which organizations, businesses and individuals sponsor a wish for a child who is suffering with a life-threatening medical condition" said Shellie Moses, Gulf Coast Director. "It is only through the support of the community that we are able to continue to grant more and more wishes." A total of 14 wishes have been granted so far this year with approximately 20 more wishes pending. The Make-A-Wish Foundation® of Mississippi is a non-profit organization that grants the wishes of children with life-threatening medical conditions to enrich the human experience with hope, strength and joy. The Make-A-Wish Foundation® of Mississippi is a part of the Make-A-Wish Foundation® of America, the country's largest wish granting charity. The Make-A-Wish Foundation of Mississippi granted 17 wishes to children on the Coast in 2003.

House Transportation Bill provides $45M for South Mississippi projects, $250K for Hwy. 90

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The U.S. House of Representatives passed H.R. 3550, the Transportation Equity Act: A Legacy for Users (TEA-LU), on Friday April 2nd, by a vote of 357-65. The House Transportation and Infrastructure Committee approved the highway reauthorization bill on March 25.

The House transportation bill includes $45 million for High-Priority projects that were requested by Rep. Gene Taylor. Taylor is a member of the Transportation and Infrastructure Committee and a member of the Highways, Transit, and Pipelines Subcommittee, from which the bill originated.

"The transportation bill is a jobs bill and an economic development investment," Taylor said. "These projects will result in immediate construction jobs. The improvements in our transportation infrastructure will alleviate traffic congestion, improve highway safety, and contribute significantly to continued economic growth in Mississippi and throughout America."

Projects in the Fourth District of Mississippi:

- U.S. 90 Enhancement project, Hancock County $250,000
- Canal Road Intermodal connector, Gulfport $8,000,000
- I-59 & US 98 access improvements, Lamar County $5,000,000
- State Highway 57 widening, Jackson County $5,000,000
- Popp's Ferry Road Bridge, Biloxi $4,000,000
- State Route 590 extension, Ellisville $4,000,000
- State Route 44, Columbia $3,500,000
- Old Augusta Road project, Perry County $3,500,000
- Martin Bluff Road improvements, Gautier $3,000,000
- Connector, SR 609 to State 15, Jackson & Harrison Counties $3,000,000
- I-59 improvements at US 84 & State 15, Laurel $2,120,000

- Connector to State Highway 42, Petal $1,500,000
- Memorial Boulevard improvements, Picayune $1,380,000
- Ohr-O'Keefe Welcome Center, Biloxi $750,000

Several of these projects will require additional funds. Future amounts can be acquired through annual appropriations and from the federal highway funds allocated to the Mississippi Department of Transportation each year.

The federal transportation programs were set to expire October 1, 2003, but had to be extended through June 2004 because of a dispute between Congress and the Bush Administration. The House Transportation Committee proposed $375 billion for the nation's transportation needs over six years. The U.S. Department of Transportation reported that a minimum of $375 billion was needed to adequately fund the nation's transportation needs, but the White House recommended only $256 billion.

TEA-LU would authorize $275 billion for transportation projects and programs over six years. Mississippi would receive an estimated total of $2.21 billion in federal highway funds and $105 million in transit funds from 2004 through 2009. Mississippi would have received more than $3 billion over that period under the original Transportation Committee bill.

The transportation authorization bill designates some specific projects, but the bulk of highway funding is allocated each year during the appropriations process. Taylor has submitted requests for additional projects in the 2005 Transportation appropriations.

The Mississippi Department of Transportation receives and administers the state's share of highway funding each year. Mississippi's share for fiscal year 2005 is estimated to be $356 million. Transportation programs are funded by the Highway Trust Fund, which is financed by the federal gasoline tax. Federal law requires that gas tax receipts be used to pay for transportation projects and nothing else. Because the highway fund is paid for by highway users, no general tax revenues or deficit spending is required to pay for the measure.

The House bill includes an amendment proposed by Rep. Taylor that would ensure that the debris from the removal of federally-funded bridges would be available to local and state governments for beneficial use projects. In South Mississippi, Taylor has organized projects using concrete rubble to construct artificial fishing reefs, keys, and jetties.

The Senate passed its version of a six-year transportation authorization in February. Members of the House and Senate must work out the differences between the two bills. Once a compromise version is agreed upon by both Houses, the bill will be sent to the president to be signed into law.

Mississippi STAR Teacher

Jane Lamb

Lamb named 'Star of Education'

James Sardin, Associate Superintendent of Education and Mr. Mike Mulvihill, Bureau Director of Compliance and Reporting for the Department of Education, recently announced the selection of local resident, Jane Lamb, as the 2004 Mississippi State Director's Stars of Education Award. In his announcement, Mulvihill stated, "This award is given to a secondary teacher who has demonstrated the highest level of dedication, commitment and creativity in the classroom and utilizes exemplary and innovative practices to prepare career and technical education for success and leadership roles in technical careers of tomorrow."

Jane's record of performance and support of vocational education in Mississippi meets all of the criteria and is very worthy of this nomination.

The National Award will be presented at the Spring Meeting of the National Association of State Directors in Washington, DC. Lamb spent 10 years at Bay High as Co-op and Marketing Instructor and currently teaches Cooperative Education at Biloxi High. She has been active in Career and Technical Education since 1990.

Lott -- drug co.

mented, much like those initiated during the Nixon Administration. Ultimately those price controls were a flop, but there are some in Congress feeling the pressure to try something, even this. In fact, this year we've already seen Congress compelled to pass bad health-care policy, Medicare prescription drug benefit that will cost trillions of dollars - that's right, trillions - providing taxpayer-funded drugs, not to just poor seniors who need it, but even to wealthy seniors who don't. It's going to drain taxpayers and encourage Medicare abuse by individuals and by health care providers.

I say to pharmaceutical executives, hospital administrators and, indeed, all healthcare-related professionals that another proposed government takeover of the entire healthcare system, similar to that tried by Hillary Clinton, isn't off the table, either. Many Americans are legitimately asking why a triumvirate of healthcare, health insurance and drug costs all seem out of control. They want to know who is responsible for these high prices.

Mrs. Clinton's plan proved to be unpopular in 1993, and rightfully so. Yet, if drug and other health care costs continue to rise, a new version of "Hillarycare" may come to the table again - this time with more public support fueled by anger, fair or unfair, at pharmaceutical companies and all things related to healthcare.

America's pharmaceutical companies are great institutions which have helped make American standards of healthcare second to none, giving us miracle drugs that have made many dreaded diseases either extinct or treatable.

However, these globally operating companies cannot continue asking only American consumers to finance pharmaceutical research and breakthrough medications through higher, everyday drug bills. These costs should be distributed globally and more equally. I further believe the federal Food and Drug Administration (FDA) needs to promote quicker, more efficient ways to approve new medications.

American pharmaceutical executives and folks throughout the healthcare spectrum must address the rising costs of drugs and healthcare in general before Uncle Sam steps in. The more health care costs skyrocket, the more Congress will flirt with massive federal intervention. No doubt that would be really great for federal bureaucrats, and really bad for American consumers.

Senator Lott welcomes any questions or comments about this column. Write to: U.S. Senator Trent Lott, 487 Russell Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510 (Attn: Press Office)

Pass Christian Boys and Girls Club win investment contest

Statewide winners of the Colom Foundation and Primerica Financial Services Boys and Girls Club Investment Competition were honored on Friday, March 26th at the Mississippi State Capitol in Jackson.

Governor Haley Barbour and First Lady Marsha Barbour recognized the winners and presented prizes to the winning student participants and their respective Boys and Girls Clubs.

Winners from the Pass Christian Boys and Girls Club won in two categories: First Place in the 9-11 year old category and second place in the 12-15 year old category.

The winning youngsters in the 9-11 year old category were Giovanni Hopkins, Iesha McKay, Emily Amos, Austin Jackson, Maggie Dedreux, Jamika Polk, and Dariane Cameron.

The winners in the 12-15 age group are: Shaundrica Brown, Iriana McKay, Sarah Hatcher and Phillip McAuley.

The investment club competition was a joint project between the Colom Foundation of Columbus, Miss., and Primerica Financial Services, a member of Citigroup.

Primerica Financial Services volunteers worked with the Boys and Girls Clubs' members on how money works and the principles of investing, budgeting, and other areas of financial literacy.

The program is the brainchild of Colom Foundation President Wil Colom.

The idea for the investment clubs was one he had had for several years, he said, before joining with Primerica to bring the plan to fruition. The competition was held among thirty Boys and Girls Clubs across the state.

"We are so excited about the outcome of this program," Colom said. "It is amazing the number of children who know so little about financial matters."

Not understanding the rules of finance limits the future of many young people. The Colom Foundation thought this would be an excellent way to help young people begin to understand the language of money while having fun and earning money for themselves and their Boys and Girls Club. We were most fortunate in partnering with our friends at Primerica Financial Services to make this program an outstanding success."

The winning clubs each received a cash prize, as did the students who represented the club.

The winners in the 9-11 year old category are Pass Christian Boys and Girls Club, West Point Clay County Boys and Girls Club and the Tupelo Boys and Girls Club.

The winners for the 12-15 year old category are Pelahatchie Boys and Girls Club, Pass Christian Boys and Girls Club and Tupelo Boys and Girls Club.

The winners received their prizes and recognition on Friday, March 26th at 10:30 a.m. on the third floor of the state capitol and were then given a special tour of the Governor's Mansion.

Hancock students attend Coast Electric Youth Leadership program in Jackson

Hancock High School students, Dionna Bush, Micah Ladner, Katherine Sullivan and Sasha Williamson, were selected to represent Coast Electric to participate in the Electric Power Association of Mississippi Youth Leadership Program held recently in Jackson. The Association took part in a statewide youth leadership program to better acquaint the future leaders of our communities with cooperative philosophy.

The students were chosen based on essays explaining their views of how cooperatives have been successful business builders in today's world and their impact on future opportunities.

Hancock Women's Club to meet Thursday

The Hancock Women's Club will meet at Favre's on the Bayou at 10:30 am on Thursday, April 8, 2004.

In celebration of spring, there will be a parade of hats crafted by members. Polly Cuevas of Pine Hill Nursery will judge the hats in the categories of prettiest, funniest and best theme, with a prize awarded to the winner in each category. Cuevas will also present a program on spring planting.

Members are reminded to bring their tote bags and books for our ongoing "Bags 'N Books" campaign to benefit the children of Hope Haven and the Waveland Library.

Any lady in Hancock County interested in learning more about our Club and its interests, or for making reservations to the luncheon, contact President Amelia Killeen at 467-0589.

Easter egg hunt to benefit Relay For Life 2004

An Easter Egg Hunt will be held at the Waveland Ball Park, across from the Railroad Bar, today, April 4th, 2:00 - 4:00 p.m. The cost per person is $1.00. All proceeds from this hunt will be donated to the American Society Relay for Life 2004 in Hancock County. The Hunt will be hosted by the Sweetheart Flappers.

For more information please contact Colleen McDevitt at 228-586-5233.

Library system awarded service, technology grants

The Hancock County Library System is the recipient of two federal Library Services and Technology (LSTA) Grants administered through the Mississippi Library Commission.

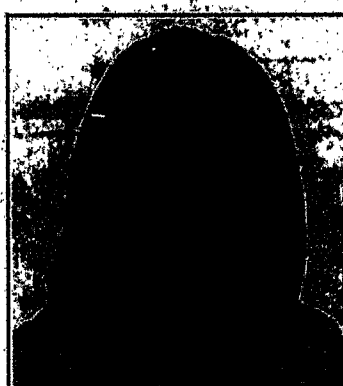

One grant funds the library's Promise 2004 project, a marketing and public relations initiative to promote services and programs under the library system's new brand, Something to Believe In. Included in the grant are funds to purchase a new computer system, printer and peripherals for the public relations department.

The Mississippi Library Commission also funded the library system's proposal for Hancock Easy Access, a technology and service project. The project proposes to upgrade the library system's authority files in its public access catalog to provide easier access to library resources by customers. Hancock Easy Access is a demonstration project that will serve as a model for other libraries in the state.

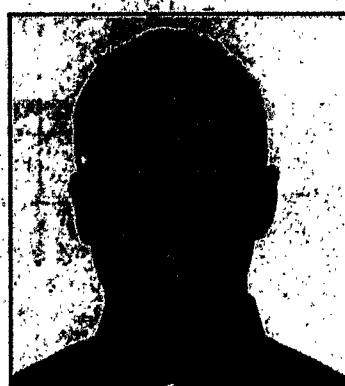

Finalists were selected based on the essays. Personal interviews were conducted to choose the final four.

At the three day workshop, the students learned many aspects of leadership, participated in team-building exercises, heard presentations given by government leaders and attended sessions held by the state government at the capitol building.

Ladner and Williamson were selected to represent Coast Electric in Washington D.C. in June at the Youth Tour sponsored by the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association. More than 1,200 high school juniors come together from across the nation to learn about the city, government, cooperatives and rural electrification at this yearly program.

Which of These Costly Homeseller Mistakes Will You Make When You Sell Your Home?

Hancock County, a new report has just been released which reveals 7 costly mistakes that most homeowners make when selling their home, and a 9 Step System that can help you sell your home fast and for the most amount of money.

This industry report shows clearly how the traditional ways of selling homes have become less and less effective in today's market. The fact of the matter is that fully three quarters of home sellers don't get what they want for their home and become disillusioned and - worse - financially disadvantaged when they put their home on the market. As this report uncovers, most homeowners make 7 deadly mistakes that could cost them literally thousands of dollars. The good news is that each and every one of these mistakes is entirely preventable.

In answer to this issue, industry insiders have prepared a free special report entitled "The 9 Step System to Get Your Home Sold Fast and For Top Dollar."

To hear a brief recorded message about how to order your free copy of this report, call 1-888-369-3515 and enter ID#1000. You can call anytime, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

Lady Pirates claim Division 8-4A softball title

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The first round of baseball action in the division races are complete. Area diamond teams are competing for playoff spots within their respective divisions. The Pass Christian Lady Pirates claimed the top spot in Division 8 Class 4A girls fast-pitch softball.

The Lady Pirates defeated Bay High 1-0 to clinch the title earlier in the week. Amber Epperson scattered four hits and struck out eight batters en route to the win. Amanda Ladner scored the winning run and Jeannie Sanders hit a triple for Pass Christian (8-7, 6-1).

On Tuesday, March 30, Pass Christian defeated St. Stanislaus 8-1. Dustin Allen helped his own cause on the mound with three hits at the plate, including a triple. He also struck out seven batters and scattered only three Rock hits in the win. Derrick Palmer also had three hits and four RBIs in the game.

In girls fast-pitch softball action, Bay High defeated Gautier 2-0 in 16 innings. Sarah Favre hit a sacrifice fly in the top of the 16th inning to put Bay High in scoring position and Sara Gilmore drove in the winning run.

Katie Barrett was the winning pitcher as she went 16 innings and struck out 16 batters along the way for Bay High (9-6).

Biloxi defeated Hancock 6-4 in other softball action.

On Friday, March 26, SSC dropped a game to the East Central Hornets at home 4-0. Adam McQueen held the Rocks to a one-hitter and struck out 11 SSC batters. Alex Nunez took the loss on the mound for SSC.

Gautier gained their first win of the season with a 6-3 decision over the Pass Christian Pirates. Jeremy Bailey and Chris Dahl each had two hits in the loss for Pass Christian. Brett Sanders was the losing pitcher on the mound for the Pirates.

Hancock gained a win on Friday with a 5-3 tally against Perry Central. Brad McGlade had a double and two RBIs in the win. Robert Pullen recorded the victory on the mound for Hancock.

On Saturday, March 27, the Rocks dropped a double-header on the road to Ocean Springs 8-4 and 4-0 to fall to 7-13 overall and 3-4 in the division.

Hancock gained a 10-4 victory over Harrison Central on Saturday. Micah Mitchell scattered five hits and struck out four batters as the Hawks improved to 3-15 overall. Chance Whitfield and Josh Malone each had a two-run double in the game.

In the nightcap, the Pass Christian Pirates defeated the Hawks 6-5 behind the arm of Dustin Allen who had 7 strikeouts. Ben Malley hit the game-winning RBI in the 11th inning and had 3 RBIs in the game. Malley tallied three hits in the contest for Pass Christian. In an earlier game, the Pirates dropped a 14-1 decision to Harrison Central.

In high school tennis action on Tuesday, March 30, Pass Christian defeated Hancock High School 3-2. Hancock's Tom Stockman defeated Pass Christian's Brock Hayden in boys singles 6-3, 7-5. The other Hancock point came in girls doubles when Mollie Nunez/Melissa Jassby defeated Pass Christian's Megan Dubuison/Heather Dent 5-7, 6-3, 6-4.

Pass Christian's points came in girls singles with Sarah Stevens defeating Nina Telickova 6-1, 6-0. In boys doubles, Pass Christian's Michael Cadrecha/James Wallace defeated Levinas/Allen Peters 6-2, 6-2. In mixed doubles, Pass Christian's Jessica Walters/Jessie DiGiacomo defeated Will Smith/Julie Werner 6-2, 6-0.

In high school golf action, St. Stanislaus won two matches during the week. On March 30, SSC won a four-team match at Millbrook Country Club in Picayune. SSC shot a team total 166 while Picayune had a 185, Hancock 188 and Pearl River Central a 207.

SSC's Mitch Higgins was low medalist with a 38 followed by TJ Koger with a 41, Damian Holcomb 43, and James Wahl with a 44.

On March 31, SSC took third at the Great Southern Club. St. Martin High School won with a team score of 163 followed by Gulfport 176 and SSC at 178.

Mitch Higgins shot a 43 to lead SSC followed by TJ Koger and James Wahl at 44.

Local gymnasts excel at State Championships; qualify for regionals

The Brook-Lin Center's Level 9 Gymnastic team qualified for and competed in the Mississippi State Gymnastic Championships that were held on March 5th in Jackson, Ms. The gymnasts competed exceptionally well against the tough competition, taking home many 1st and 2nd place awards. Alysha Pretzello placed 1st all-around, 1st on vault, 1st on bars, 1st on beam and 4th on floor. Amanda Dearman placed 2nd all-around, 1st on floor, 2nd on beam, 4th on vault and 5th on bars. Charlie Zoerner placed 2nd all-around, 2nd on vault, 2nd on beam, 2nd on bars and 3rd on floor. Their top placement in the State Championships qualified each of them to compete in the Level 9 Regional Championships that will be held in Atlanta, Ga. on April 2-3. The gymnasts are coached by Terry Kruchowsky and Cynthia Dedeaux at the newly opened Brook-Lin Center for Gymnastics & Dance in Diamondhead.

OLA/SSC hands Bay High first season loss in tennis

THE SEA COAST ECHO
The Bay High Tigers lost their first match of the season in tennis to Our Lady Academy/St. Stanislaus Thursday, one set to four.

In boys singles, St. Stanislaus's Chris Williams defeated Bay High's Marquez Singleton 6-2, -2; in girls singles, OLA's Christine Bratten stopped Lady Tiger Lisa Schroeter, 6-2, 6-4.

SSC & Picayune claim annual titles in Rock Relays

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
Staff Writer

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws track team held their annual Rock Relays at the Brother Phillip Memorial Athletic Complex on Thursday, April 1. The Rocks won the boys division with 122 points followed by Vancleave with 95, D'Iberville 87, Picayune 83, Mercy Cross 40, St. John 29 and Bay High with 26 points.

Picayune nipped Vancleave in the girls division with 100 points while the Lady Bulldogs amassed 99 points. Mercy Cross was third with 71 points followed by OLA with 61, D'Iberville 53, Resurrection 42 and Bay High with 38 points.

Jake Johnson of SSC was the lone double-winner for the area athletes with two first place finishes. He won the long jump and the pole vault with marks of 19'3" and 12', respectively. Nick Weinmann of SSC won the discus with a throw of 126'8" and took second in the shotput with 45'4". Rock 3200m runner Troy Johnston won his race in 10:44 while Bobby Nilson placed third in the 1600m run in 5:02.3. The SSC relay team of Darius Acker, Zack Delaney, Josh Robinson and Chris Tran crossed the finish line in first place in both the 400m and 800m relays.

Darius Acker of SSC won the 100m dash in 11.48 followed by Bay High's Tony Conetti in second place. Bay High's Greg Lanier won the 200m dash in 23.35.

SSC's Kyle Lewis was victorious in the 800m run in 2:01.31.

Josh Robinson of SSC placed third in the 400m dash with a time of 55.82 while teammate Jeremy Burke placed third in the discus with a toss of 111'1".

The 1600m relay team of Robinson, Delaney, Michael Kivlan and Beau Brodtmann won the night's final race with a time of 3:42.9.

On the girls side, Margaret Rittiner of OLA placed second in the 400m dash with a personal best 1:03.91 and Bay High's Crystal Skretching placed third in 1:06.63. Jennifer Asper of OLA won the 1600m run in 5:40.6 while teammate Annette Allard placed first in the high jump with a height of 4'6".

OLA's Laura Kergosien placed third in the 100m low hurdles with a time of 20.11. The Bay High relay team of Rogers, Booker, Green and Lee won the 400m relay in 54.69. The Bay High 800m relay team of Cann, Green, Booker and Lee placed second in 1:56.71.

The area track and field teams are preparing for the division championship meets that will be held on August 17 at various locations.

Hawkins -- championship

Body building competitions and weightlifting has been a part of this 39-year-old's life since he was a teenager.

"I was the kid that got beat up in school," he said. "Even the girls picked on me."

This enticed Hawkins to start working out. Although he could not afford to attend a gym, Hawkins created his own means of working out. He lifted cinder blocks attached to either end of a broom handle. Jugs filled with sand also provided good lifting. Hawkins even did push-ups with his brother and sister on his back.

"In junior high, I went out for football and a guy hit me so hard I quit," he said. That's when he decided to get serious about weightlifting.

He utilized the gym at Bay Middle School and started bulking up. In 1983, Hawkins competed for Teen Gulf Coast at the age of 18. He won.

Since then, Hawkins has competed five times for the title of Mr. Mississippi and has never been defeated. In 1997, he won third place at Team Universe in New York. He took first place in his last competition at the 2002 Muscle Mania in New Orleans.

Now the full-time fitness trainer has his sights set on the Southern USA Body Building Championship. He began training in January by working out 2 1/2 hours a day, five days a week. His diet consists of egg whites, tuna, turkey, fish and green vegetables.

"I eat like a cat and train like a bull," he said. "It just doesn't add up. You have to really push yourself."

Hawkins has lost 18 pounds since his training began and must lose two more by next weekend. He must meet the competition's guidelines of weighing no more than 198 pounds. He trains at Body Rock Fitness in Bay St. Louis and Lifestyle Family Fitness in Gulfport.

When he is not training, Hawkins devotes his time to preaching, which he has done for 19 years. He currently attends Powerhouse of Deliverance Ministry in Bay St. Louis under the leadership of Bishop Jeffrey and Tina Reed.

Hawkins also wanted to recognize his wife of 19 years, Yvette, and his son, Charles III, who currently plays football at Pearl River Community College. When asked if his son also lifts weights, Hawkins smiled and said, "Of course he does; I'm his father."

Burglaries

Barnett continued, "During the course of the joint investigation with Pearl River County Sheriff's Investigator Ismil Quiroz, it was revealed the trio was also responsible for the burglary of a commercial business in Pearl River County." Tony's Quick Stop had numerous cigarettes and potato chips taken and a small amount of change in addition to a cash register.

Gainey's Seafood reported an undetermined amount of cash in addition to a cash register door was stolen.

Entry into both stores was made by breaking out the front glass doors apparently with a hammer and a crow bar, Barnett added.

Barnett said he expects the arrest of the third party involved to be made soon.

Second Saturday Artwalk

The Old Town Bay St. Louis merchants invite you to join them for Second Saturday Artwalk 2004 from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. There will be live music, artists' receptions at the galleries, refreshments and late evening shopping. Come early, eat at one of the Bay's excellent restaurants, pick up a map of Old Town and plan your evening of visiting galleries and shopping in interesting shops. HOT SPOTS

BAY CRAFTS, 107 N. BEACH BLVD: Please join them for their 15th Birthday celebration. There will be birthday cake, and gifts for customers.

Bay Crafts has proudly carried the work of American craftspeople for the past fifteen years. Enjoy the work of master studio potter, Talley Johnson, the functional pottery of Bill Campbell, Eden Jason Silverman and the newest arrival, Allan Ditton. If jewelry is on your mind, try on a pair of sterling silver or gold earrings by Jody Coyote, Silver Forest or TK Connor; or if you prefer color, then Ayala Barr's sworsky crystals or Kelly Colleen's "Colors" line is sure to fit the bill. There are wind socks and wind chimes to delight your senses, Bandana's metal critters to make you smile, greeting cards for every occasion and glass by Valentine, Zug and Star Wishes to brighten your windows.

SERENITY GALLERY, 126 MAIN STREET: The show features new works of photographer Keith Karlson, titled "The Mist of Time", as well as new paintings from Alfred J. Walker Fine Art. Karlson's new photographs, "The Mist of Time" have a very painterly quality. Often when people first see his work they think they are in fact paintings. He accomplishes this by shooting in more foggy and hazy conditions, and uses no filters or darkroom techniques to accomplish this effect. The title of the show reflects the timeless quality of light and beauty inspired by nature, as well as the mystery of life. In addition to large format photographs, the show will include a series of what Karlson calls traveling icons. Alfred J. Walker Fine Art, whose main gallery is in Boston, with a satellite at Serenity Gallery, will feature selected works by contemporary artists.

For further information, call Serenity Gallery at 228-467-3061. Peoples Bank is the proud sponsor of the music Beach Blvd. Rythm and Rain.

Library System upgrades Waveland Library computer lines

Access to the online informational resources and the World Wide Web is faster at the Waveland Public Library since the library system installed a new T1 line for its FOCUS (Free Online Computer User Services) computers.

A T1 line is a fiber optic line that can carry 24 digitized voice channels, or it can carry data at a rate of 1.544 megabits per second. A T1 line can carry about 192,000 bytes per second -- roughly 60 times more data than a normal residential modem. It is also extremely reliable.

"Our customers noticed the speed of the new T1 line immediately," said Karen Cotton, Waveland Public Library Branch Manager. "We have seven computers that are now used consistently every day."

CAPT. RAINEY LYONS, JR.

Capt. Rainey Frank "Red" Lyons, Jr., age 74, retired Master of the Western Rivers, Exxon Marine Division. Son of the late Leona Pomes and Rainey Lyons. Husband of 47 years to the late Catherine McAllister. Father of Johanna Lyons Spicuzza, of Bay St. Louis, Rainey Jude Lyons, of Violet, LA and the late Frank Lyons. Grandfather of Charleyn Gilmore, Christian Cordes, Trilby Lyons and Rainey J. Lyons, Jr. Great-grandfather of Ty Gilmore and Cayla Cordes. Brother of Virgie Mayer, Audrey Doucet and Carole Tilly. Father-in-law of Raymond Spicuzza and Edrie Lyons.

As a young boy he was fascinated by the Mississippi River and began working on the river, at the age of 14. He worked his way up from mess boy in the galley on tugboats, to being part owner of a towing company and ended his career 42 years later as Captain of the Exxon Kentucky. He was an avid outdoorsman, who enjoyed fishing, trawling and hunting. He was a devoted husband, father and friend, someone on whom you could always depend, always helping others in any way possible. He will be sadly missed by many, but never forgotten.

A Funeral Mass was celebrated in the chapel of JACOB SCHOEN & SON FUNERAL HOME, on Wednesday, March 31, 2004. In lieu of flowers, donations to Servants of Christ Food Bank, 709 Genie St., Chalmette, LA 70043, preferred.

Singleton, Weems named to library trustee board

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Vonretta Singleton and Fred Weems of Bay St. Louis are the new City of Bay St. Louis appointees to the Hancock County Library System Board of Trustees.

Singleton, a resident of Bay St. Louis, fills the position held by Clementine Williams, who served as a member of the Board of Trustees since 1993. She is an assistant vice president and branch manager with Hancock Bank.

She attended the University of Mississippi School of Banking, the University of Southern Mississippi and is a graduate of Leadership Gulf Coast 2000.

Singleton is active in her church, St. Rose De Lima, where she teaches catechism and serves as a lecturer.

She is a member of the Edgewater Sunrises Rotary Club and serves on the board of the Red Cross. She is also a school volunteer and was for many years a volunteer for the library's adult education program.

Weems, a Bay St. Louis resident, fills the position held by Joyce Z. Lee, who served as a member of the Board of Trustees since 1996. He holds an A.S.

Degree from Perkinson Community College, a Bachelor's Degree from William Carey College, a Masters of Science Degree and Doctor of Education Degree from the University of Southern Mississippi. He has more than 40 years of teaching and coaching experience including nine years at St. Stanislaus and seven years at Bay High School. He has authored more than 30 articles, was Star Teacher at Bay High School in 1970 and is a member of the Biloxi Sports Hall of Fame.

Trustee members continuing to serve are Mary M. Cassis, chairman; Mary Sindors Boutar, vice chairman; and Evelyn Crump Johnson.

Clementine Williams was named Trustee Emeritus, and Lee was recently elected to the Library Foundation Board of Directors.

DuPont announces $38 million investment

DuPont DeLisle has announced planned capital investments of approximately $38 million that will strengthen the plant's competitiveness in an extremely aggressive global marketplace. The investment will enable the plant to increase its productive capacity by 16 percent.

"This will allow the plant to export more product to growing markets overseas," said Pat Nichols, plant manager. DuPont DeLisle currently exports some 50 percent of its annual production to offshore markets. "The increase will be achieved by eliminating bottlenecks in our production lines," said Nichols. "While no additional jobs will be created as a result of this effort, improving the DeLisle plant's ability to compete more effectively offers a greater measure of protection for the approximately 1000 jobs the plant currently provides to employees and contractor partners."

Unemployment rate drops

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi's unadjusted unemployment rate dropped to 5.6 percent in February, down 0.6 percent from January.

The Mississippi Employment Security Commission said Thursday that the jobless rate was still lower than at the same time a year ago, when it was 6.4 percent. The jobless rate for January was 5.6 percent. The national adjusted rate was 5.6 percent.

MESC officials said the economy showed an increase of jobs in education and health services and manufacturing, adding 1,400 jobs each.

In addition to the increase in productive capacity, Nichols said, DuPont also plans to install the capability to burn methane gas from biomass resources that result in low air emissions and are safe to use. This Beneficial Use of Landfill Gas Project is believed to be either the first or one of the first in the State of Mississippi.

"While all the details are yet to be finalized, we intend to bring gas created by the natural decomposition of matter in landfills and safely burn it as fuel," Nichols explained. "This gas is now being flared and is not providing any value. Our burning it reduces our dependence on fossil fuels while at the same time, eliminates a source of air emissions in our community," she said. Nichols also notes that there are some 360 such projects operating safely throughout the United States.

In order to carry out these projects as well as to improve overall plant operations, DuPont DeLisle is engaged in a number of environmental permitting initiatives for which it has requested the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality hold public hearings.

"DuPont wants to ensure that we are completely open to the community about these projects and our operations. MDEQ has the option to hold public hearings on permits. By our requesting them, this assures that our actions and our intent are fully open to the community," Nichols said.

Nichols noted that DuPont has requested a hearing for all permits pertaining to the proposed waste management unit that previously has been announced.

The permits to be discussed at this second hearing, on a date set by MDEQ, will include: a permit to use wetlands (issued by the Corps of Engineers), a renewal of the plant's RCRA permit, a solid waste permit and a surface mining permit.

"All these initiatives will mean more monitoring and control of emissions, greater operational efficiencies, improved technology and, long term, continuing reductions of emissions. The end result is another step forward in reducing DuPont DeLisle's environmental impact," Nichols said.

DuPont's DeLisle plant is a major world producer of titanium dioxide (TiO2). The plant, which began operations in 1979 and employs approximately 1000 persons, uses state-of-the-art technology in the manufacture of TiO2, a pigment used in paints, plastics, textiles, foods and other products as a whitening or brightening agent.

Passion Play

Michael Benson, of Pkayine (on the Hancock County side), portrays the Roman soldier who drives the spear into Jesus' side in the First Pentecostal Drama Department's production of "Who Will Call Him King?" The passion play is scheduled for April 9, 10 and 11, beginning at 7 p.m. nightly, at the First Pentecostal Church, 388 Robert Blvd. in Sildell. Admission is free and child care is available. For more information, call 985-643-8760.

Passion Week schedule, April 4-12

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The First Baptist Church of Bay St. Louis, has announced its schedule of activities for the Passion week of April 4-12, 2004. These activities will begin on Palm Sunday (April 4, 2004) with a special day of events that will be held at the Gulfshore Baptist Assembly which is located in Pass Christian.

The worship service will begin at 11 AM and will be followed by a dinner-on-the-ground and games during the afternoon. There will not be services at the church's location at 141 Main Street, Bay St. Louis on Sunday, April 4.

On Good Friday, April 9, 2004, and Saturday, April 10, 2004, there will be a dramatic presentation of the Crucifixion. Both presentations will begin shortly after sunset each day.

On April 11, 2004 the Easter Sunday schedule will begin with a county wide sunrise service sponsored by the Hancock County Ministerial Alliance on the front lawn of First Baptist Church of Bay St. Louis. Part of this service will be a dramatic presentation of the resurrection. The sunrise service will begin at 7 AM.

Following the Sunrise service First Baptist Church will have a special Sunday schedule. There will be three morning services to celebrate the resurrection. These services will begin at 8:30, 9:30, and 10:30 AM. There will also be a Sunday Evening worship beginning at 6 PM.

Everyone is encouraged to attend their place of worship in celebration of the resurrection.

3 Doors Down concert benefits local organizations

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Hope Haven and Hancock Medical Center were just two beneficiaries of a recent charity concert featuring multi-platinum, Grammy nominated 3 Doors Down.

The Hancock Medical Center Foundation's school clinics program and Hope Haven children's shelter were among 15 charities selected from a three-state area.

The concert was held Friday, March 26 at the Mobile Civic Center.

Drum heads signed by band members were donated to each participating charity. Hope Haven conducted an auction by telephone with a starting bid of $100. The Hancock Medical Center Foundation sold $5 raffle tickets for the custom drum head and for VIP backstage passes with tickets to the concert.

Clifford Rasbury of Bay

St. Louis won the drum head and VIP backstage passes.

The band was hoping to raise at least $125,000 to distribute to the organizations.

They include:

- Center for the Prevention of Child Abuse
- Gulf Coast Women's Center for Non-Violence
- Hancock Medical Center Foundation
- Hope Haven
- Our Daily Bread

Hancock Child Identification program ongoing

The Hancock County School District is participating in an ongoing statewide effort to identify, locate, and evaluate children from birth through the age of twenty-one who have a physical, mental, communicative and/or emotional disability.

Early identification of children in need of special educational experiences is most important to each child.

Furthermore, this information gathered from contacts with parents and other agencies will be used to help determine present and future program needs as progress is made toward the goal of providing a free appropriate public education to all children with a disability.

Anyone with information pertaining to a child with disabilities, or questions regarding the collection and maintenance of data, is asked to contact Jean Young, Child Identification Coordinator for the Hancock County School District by calling (228) 255-6626 or writing to 6069 Cuevas Town Road, Kiln, MS 39556. The Child Identification Coordinator implements child identification, location, and evaluation of children birth through age 21 who have a disability, regardless of the severity of their disability, and who are in need of special education and/or related services.

Blow Fly to highlight Second Friday Books

Blow Fly by Patricia Cornwall will highlight the Second Friday Book Club's discussion on Friday, April 9, at 10 a.m. at the Kiln Public Library.

The Second Friday Book Club is cosponsored by Gloria Burlette and the Kiln Public Library.

The book club originally began meeting on the first Friday of every month, but moved to the second Friday to accommodate members. Each month the group discusses a different book, normally books from the best seller list.

The book club is open to anyone each month with no requirement that you have read the book in advance.

More information is available by calling the Kiln Public Library at 255-1724 or Gloria Burlette at 255-9097. The library system can be accessed through the World Wide Web at www.hancock.lib.ms.us, DialPac, the library system's automated catalog, can be accessed via home, business or school modem by dialing 463-0024.

The absolutely perfect hard-cooked egg

Thought I'd take a Sunday off and let Stella do the talking.
— Paul

Easter is almost on us and it's time to start thinking about hard-cooked eggs for your family's annual Easter Egg Hunt. Note that I am saying hard-cooked eggs not hard-boiled eggs. There is a reason for this that I will go into in a moment.

What makes the absolutely perfect hard-cooked egg and what do you have to do to cook that perfect egg? How do you stop the eggs from cracking and the whites from running out during the cooking process? And wait! What are you going to do with all the absolutely perfect hard-cooked eggs left over after the Easter Egg Hunt? Can the remainder of those eggs be served at lunch or dinner on Easter Sunday?

Life is tough, so many questions!

The perfect hard-cooked egg can be described as having a tender white, no dark ugly line between the yolk and the white, being easy to peel, and having a yolk that is nicely centered. Such an egg is beautiful to behold and tasty to eat. Anything else is, well just another hard-cooked ugly, not too tasty egg.

What can happen to an egg to keep it from reaching that ideal? Well, excessive heat toughens an egg and causes a dark line to form between its yolk and white. Also, excessive pressure inside an egg and a drastic, sudden change in temperature will cause an egg to crack and let the white run out through the cracks while being cooked. And, finally fresh eggs are difficult to peel and the eggs sold in the stores at Easter always seem to be fresher than at any other time of the year!

So now we come to the hard-cooked egg versus hard-boiled egg part.

HOLY WEEK

The practice of Praying the Stations of the Cross developed during the Crusades when knights and pilgrims began to follow the route of Christ's way to Calvary.

The devotion spread throughout Europe, becoming an important part of Catholic ritual and inspiring some of the greatest examples of medieval Christian art. Many scholars believe that medieval miracle plays were inspired by the sculptured representations of the Stations in the great Churches.

During Lent or Holy Week most parishes have a service of the Stations. On Friday, children from the fifth grade at Bay Catholic Elementary School performed the Stations of the Cross for the community at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis.

The Stations are commonly numbered one to fourteen.

Station One-Jesus is condemned to death.

Station Two-Jesus is made to bear his Cross.

Station Three-Jesus falls the first time under his Cross.

Station Four-Jesus meets his Mother.

Station Five-Simon the Cyrene helps Jesus carry his Cross.

Station Six-Veronica wipes the face of Jesus and his image appears on her veil.

Station Seven-Jesus falls for the second time.

Station Eight-Jesus speaks to the daughters of Jerusalem.

Station Nine-Jesus falls the third time.

Station Ten-Jesus is stripped of his garments.

Station Eleven-Jesus is nailed to the Cross.

Station Twelve-Jesus dies on the Cross.

Station Thirteen-Jesus is taken down from the Cross.

Station Fourteen-Jesus is buried.

One of the most beautiful cities in the South is Port Gibson, Miss. Labeled "too beautiful to burn" by Civil War Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, this town indeed has persevered and entices travelers to wander the streets in awe.

The Mississippi Plant Selections Committee is proud to announce the Port Gibson Pink verbenas as a 2004 Mississippi

Medallion award winner. Just like the city it is named after, this verbenas will be around in your garden for years to come. In fact, Port Gibson was planted in the first year of our Mississippi Medallion trials eight years ago and is still there today.

PRCC to have student dorms for summer semester for 1st time

For the first time in many years, Pearl River Community College will open some dormitories for male and female students attending classes on its main campus this summer.

A five-day plan and a seven-day plan will be available for students.

Night classes begin Monday, May 24. Day classes for the first term begin June 1.

"Due to the continued growth of our college in recent years, there has been more and more requests for summer housing for students," said PRCC President William Lewis. "In an effort to facilitate that demand, we made the decision to expand our offerings to students in the summer. This is just another aspect of our growth at Pearl River Community College."

Adam Breerwood, Dean of Student Affairs at PRCC, advises students to get their applications in as early as possible. "Housing will be limited during the summer," he said. "Requests for housing during the fall and spring semesters has been overwhelming the last couple of years and, we expect that to be the case for the summer term."

Cost for room and board will be $362 for the five-day plan and $424 for the seven-day plan. Both plans include meals.

Registration for new students attending Pearl River Community College during the summer semester will be held on both the Hattiesburg and Poplarville campuses.

On the Hattiesburg campus, new students can register for day and night classes from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Wednesday, May 19 in the Multi-Purpose Building. The Hattiesburg campus is located on U.S. 49 South.

On the Poplarville campus, new students can register for day and night classes from 3 p.m. until 5 p.m., on Thursday, May 20, in the Academic Building on the Poplarville campus.

New students can also register from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m. May 10-21 in the Counseling Center by appointment.

Day classes for the second term begin June 30. Graduation is July 30.

For information, call (601) 403-1000 or visit the PRCC web site at <http://www.prcc.edu>.

Allee receives Millsaps scholarship

Our Lady Academy (OLA) senior Taylor Allee will be attending Millsaps College in Jackson in the fall of 2004. Allee was notified that she received the Millsaps Award scholarship and a Second Century-Music scholarship in recognition of her high school academic performance, standardized test results, extracurricular involvement and music talents while at OLA. The scholarships were awarded simultaneously.

Allee is a member of the National Society of High School Scholars and has been a designated Who's Who Among American High School Students since 2001.

She is a member and officer of the St. Stanislaus Marching Regiment, the Color Guard and has been active in local amateur theatre. She has also been a volunteer to various local charitable efforts.

Taylor Allee

As one of the top liberal arts colleges in the nation, Millsaps has long placed a strong emphasis on the intellectual growth of its students by holding high academic expectations before them.

Taylor Allee is the daughter of Don and Michelle

Allee of Pass Christian. Her brother Chad attends the University of Texas in Austin, Texas.

Instead of boiling the eggs, coddle them. However, before doing any cooking, take each egg and pierce the end of the egg with a thin needle. This will ease pressure build-up and eliminate the eggs cracking during cooking. I actually use one of those colored plastic bulletin board pins instead of a needle.

I leave the eggs in their original carton and putting the pin on top of each egg, tap it with the back of a bread and butter knife. This does the job quickly and you are soon ready to start your coddling.

First place the eggs in a pan with enough water to cover them and bring the water to a boil. Turn off the heat immediately and cover the eggs. Let the eggs sit in the covered pan for about 17 minutes. Make certain that the eggs lay horizontally in the pan and turn them occasionally. This will keep the yolks centered and becomes important if you are going to eventually stuff the eggs.

After the 17 minutes, drain the water off the eggs, and immediately plunge them into cold water.

Now take them out and peel them. The immersion in the cold water causes a jacket of steam to form between each egg and its shell, which ultimately makes peeling easier. Adding salt or white vinegar to the water after you turn the heat off also helps in the peeling process.

Another approach is to simmer the eggs. Bring enough water to a rapid boil to cover the eggs to be cooked. Gently lower the eggs into the boiling water and lower the heat until the water barely simmers. Leave them in the water for 10 minutes, drain them, plunge them into cold water, and then peel. When you peel, crack the entire egg first and then peel.

I'm sure there are several other approaches to making hard-cooked eggs. No matter which of the ways you chose to cook your eggs, you will note that constant excessive heat is not used in the cooking process and that these are never hard-boiled.

Now, what do you do with all those leftover absolutely perfect hard-cooked eggs that the kids have not squashed?

What about making a nice egg salad for the family lunch? or deviled eggs stuffed with shrimp? or potato salad? or pickled eggs?

You can even make a sandwich with sliced hard-cooked eggs and a little mayonnaise for a quick and easy breakfast or lunch treat.

To help you along I am offering two different versions of stuffed eggs for you to try. Hope you enjoy both versions.

Bon Appetit!

SHRIMP-STUFFED EGGS

1 dozen hard-cooked eggs, peeled
3/4 cup homemade mayonnaise

1 tbs. Dijon mustard
1/4 tsp. salt

1/4 tsp. white pepper
drop of Tabasco sauce

1 lb. shrimp, cooked
2 tbs. prepared horseradish

4 green onions, minced
2 sweet pickles, finely minced

2 tps. sweet pickle juice
paprika and fresh chopped chives

Cut eggs in half and remove yolks. Process yolks, mayonnaise, mustard, salt, pepper, Tabasco sauce in food processor. Peel and chop shrimp. Fold in shrimp, horseradish, minced onions, pickles and pickle juice. Adjust seasonings according to taste. Spoon or pipe filling into egg white halves and chill. For best results to allow flavors to properly mingle chill at least eight hours. Garnish with paprika and fresh chopped chives.

BACON-STUFFED EGGS

1 dozen hard-cooked eggs, peeled
3/4 cup homemade mayonnaise

1 tbs. Dijon mustard
1/4 tsp. salt

1/4 tsp. white pepper
drop of Tabasco sauce

8 slices bacon, cook and crumbled
1/4 cup fresh chives

3 tbs. sweet pickle, finely minced
2 tps. sweet pickle juice

paprika and fresh chopped chives

Cut the eggs in half and remove yolks. Process yolks, mayonnaise, mustard, salt, pepper, and Tabasco sauce in food processor. Fold in bacon, chives, pickle and pickle juice. Adjust seasonings according to taste. Spoon or pipe filling into egg white halves and chill. For best results to allow flavors to properly mingle chill at least eight hours. Garnish with paprika and fresh chopped chives.

that feast on their nectar.

Port Gibson Pink is a vigorous, upright yet spreading verberna that blooms for months. Proper soil preparation and site selection is essential in your verberna success. Add 3 to 4 inches of organic matter and till to a depth of 8 to 10 inches. Port Gibson Pink verbenas need full sun in moist, well-drained soil that does not stay consistently wet. In fact the better drainage they have in the winter, the longer they will live.

While tilling, spread 2 pounds per 100 square feet of a slow-release fertilizer like a 12-6-6, 8-8-8 or something fairly similar.

Provide full sunlight, water and you are well on your way to enjoying one of the prettiest flowers available. Like all perennial verbenas, these are vigorous plants that spread exceptionally well. They bloom for weeks and weeks, and then get a little tired. Although they'll still have a few blossoms, they'll look a little weak.

This is the time to cut them back and side-dress with a little fertilizer. The verbenas will send out new runners and give more blossoms. You may need to do this twice in a long growing season, but that is how you have verberna blooms in spring, summer and fall. Leaving those long stems will promote problems and make them look unsightly.

Port Gibson Pink verbenas are resistant to powdery mildew and are very vigorous. They will excel in landscapes, and they are perfect for baskets, patios, window boxes and balconies. Fertilize once a month for those planted in the landscape and every two weeks for those in containers.

You will find that like their cousin the lantana, swallowtail, monarch and fritillary butterflies will feast on the perennial verberna regularly. Combine them with plants like salvia, buddleia and lantanas.

Port Gibson Pink verberna makes a nice companion with a previous winner, the Biloxi Blue verberna. Try them in front of purple-foliaged plants like Purple Heart, Mississippi Summer Sun Coleus or the highly ornamental Purple Ruffles.

Stop for a visit in the friendly city of Port Gibson and then look for the Mississippi Medallion award winning Port Gibson Pink verberna at your local garden center.

The Mississippi Medallion program is in its eighth year and is sponsored by Mississippi State University Extension Service, Mississippi Nursery and Landscape Association and Mississippi Plant Selections Committee.

Hancock County 4-H Southeast District Livestock Show winners

Recently at the Southeast District 4-H Livestock Show held in Hattiesburg, MS on January 30 - February 1, 2004, several of the Boots and Buckles 4-H Club members in Necaise Crossing were Champion and Reserve Champion winners in their livestock breed.

Sarah Johnson won Reserve Champion Charolais Bull and Reserve Champion Charolais Heifer, Ethan Hoda won Reserve Champion Gelbvieh Bull, Bristen Breaux won Champion Gelbvieh Bull, Raymond Lee won Reserve Champion Beefmaster Bull, and Peyton Lee won Champion Beefmaster Bull.

All of our participants did well. Other members of the Boots and Buckles Club showing at the District Show were Amanda Hoda, Brooke Ladner, Rachel Lee, Tiffany Wilson, Maggie Ladner, and Kyle Prather.

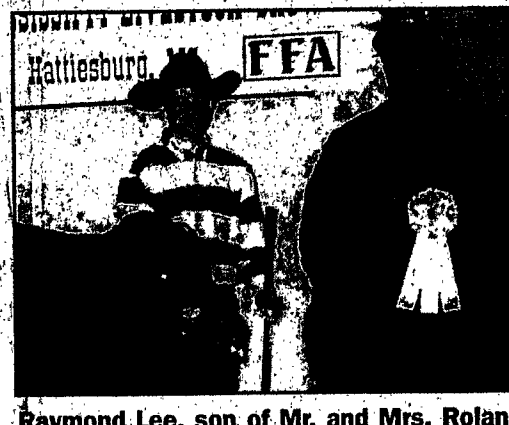

From the District Show, all the participants advanced to the Dixie National Jr. Round-up in Jackson on February 7-12, 2004. The Hancock 4-H members have been working extremely hard this year with the county livestock program and I know they will be good ambassadors to represent our county at the Junior Round-up. This show will be the last livestock event for this season. Things will gear up again in the fall when the new season starts.

Ethan Hoda, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Hoda, with his Reserve Champion Gelbvieh Bull. Holding his entry is his sister, Amanda Hoda, while Ethan holds his ribbon.

Final Traces of Lent

"Priest Where Is Thy Mass? Mass Where Is Thy Priest?" "Sixteen Priests Tell Why They Celebrate the Latin Mass."

Having heard about the Vatican II aftermath complex for years, you can probably guess as well as I can the multiple quirks and motives behind the predilection of some priests for saying the Tridentine Latin Mass.

A few cursory glances inside the book confirm all the things we expected to find about their attachment to the Latin Mass. However, as Lent winds down, I will definitely grant them this much. The introduction to the Tridentine Mass expresses everything we hope for as human beings.

"Introibo ad altare Dei!" Exclaims the priest. "Ad Deum qui laetificat juventutem meam!" answers the altar server.

"I will go unto the altar of God! To God who gives joy to my youth!"

Although I was ordained toward the end of the Tridentine Mass era in 1957, and even though Latin is a second language for me and greatly pleased me when put to music, I am attached to the vernacular which the people like.

Still, it remains a distinct thrill to recall and repeat that just-quoted introduction to the Tridentine Mass. All of us relate to the timeless desires and longing expressed in that opening prayer, for we all seek fulfilling joy.

In the midst of all the solemn atmosphere and the serious penances of Lent, the constant undercurrent is always the same: the quest for joy.

Even as we age, "To God who gives joy to my youth" grows only stronger.

Everyone is virtually the same in this regard. As we mature, we fight the battle of the mirror, the battle of the bulge, the battle of wrinkles, muscles losing their tone, memory challenges which make us wonder whether our mind is slipping a tad, and a tendency to get into ruts in issues and views.

In stark contrast to the appearance and expressions of such a somber season, Lent calls us back to all the radical basics of our life, including repentance, conversion to God, forgiveness and our insatiable quest for joy.

Popular perception has it that Lent comes across to us as heavily subdued, sorrowful, burdensome and painful. It speaks of things which we find very difficult to give up or do without, and of tasks which we find hard to do.

So draggy is the very idea of Lent that I have a personal dislike for the time after Mardi Gras, even though I have done far more than the equivalent of a Lenten fast for seven years

Reflections on Life
by Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

and eleven months, abstaining from all meats, all seafoods, all milk products, all salt, sugar and caffeine.

Nevertheless, Lent is anything but a drag, despite its forbidding theme and atmosphere. First of all, it is a prime tool which helps us remove the worst source of negative stress: not forgiving others and not being forgiven.

Second, Lent helps to lead us from forgiveness to repentance, conversion to God and the fullness of joy in our lives. At this point, we begin to see and experience "To God who gives joy to my youth," even if we are old.

Lent's heavy theme and ambience does its job, getting our attention amid all the worldly distractions of life. Grudgingly, in our most sober moments, we do admit that we need such a season as this at strategic times of the year.

Like stubborn mules, we need an occasional jolt to call us back from our preoccupation with the phony sources of joy, as we stretch ourselves out to recapture the vigor, joie de vivre and unbridled joy of youth.

Although we know it is not possible, we remain on a continuous quest to find it.

So it comes about that we frequently experience the height of frustration by the survivors at funerals where we bury people who died very young, in their forties or relatively young in their fifties and sixties.

"He loved life," we often hear. "He loved to party, to second-line, to do the cooking, to entertain, to tell jokes and to laugh. And, of course, he loved people, lively company and all kinds of celebrations."

Naturally, all these things are good and commendable traits which we all would be thrilled to possess within ourselves or see in our relatives and friends. However, they are often stated at funerals as a whistling in the dark sort of thing to mask deep grief over the passing of a very young person.

Such expressions often end up at the cemetery with the libation of a bottle of Coke or whiskey onto the coffin just before it is pushed into its slot. This is close to being the ultimate expression of frustration and dashed hope.

Perhaps the sixteen Tridentine-loving priests are having the same nostalgic twinge about the joy of our youth as we are, except that they prefer to reminisce in the original Latin version of the prayer and reflection.

I must admit, as we no doubt all do, that I have my moments, my special flashbacks when I feel my dynamic food regimen kicking in, sparring my body to some feats of yesteryear and my soul to the joy of my youth.

Scripture Says...

By Ed Young

REJOICE, O ISRAEL

This writer for years thought about the constant mistreatment of Jews throughout history. Never has a people been more mistreated than the people from once called The Holy Land.

When driven out of the land of Judah, 2000 years ago; they settled in many countries throughout the world. Where ever they settled they prospered. Yet, for the most part they were not received and were disliked. Why is that so?

The Jews are people who usually make good citizens; and go about living a normal life. Crime has no place in the family unit.

They produce professionals, doctors, scientists, lawyers, merchants, educators who contribute to a nation. Yet, the world is dubious about them having a nation. For what reason?

In Europe there was a all out attempt to completely annihilate every Jew that lived on that continent.

For what reason?

Even in this present time many eastern nations are attempting to destroy the people of Israel. The hate the Jews.

Those nations are not in need of finances, land, nor threaten of conquest. Why do they hate so?

This writer believes that the almighty has His hands of protection on them. The Jews will survive now and forever. The future will bare that out. Ez. 38:39

However, down through history there has been a consequence.

Matt. 23:37 O Jerusalem, Jerusalem thou that killest the prophets, and stone them who were sent unto thee, how often would I have gathered thy children together, even as a hen gathered her chickens under her wing, and you would not. Behold your house is left desolate.

Look up, O Israel, the return of Jesus Christ will bring peace to Jerusalem. That is so! Rejoice, rejoice, O Israel, for the Lord is preparing to come.

Visit the church or synagogue of your choice.

Johnson recognized by State Auditor

THE SEA COAST ECHO State Auditor Phil Bryant recently presented Phyllis Johnson, Fixed Asset Manager at the Hancock County School District, a certificate recognizing achievement in fixed asset management.

State law requires that once each year the Auditor's Office send a representative to audit the fixed assets for each district. No errors or problems were discovered during this year's audit. Bryant said, "People don't usually like to see the auditors coming, but the people at the Hancock County School District have been very good stewards of their property. The taxpayers should know that their tax dollars have been well maintained."

Trace Adkins to perform at Coast Coliseum

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Country music star, Trace Adkins will perform at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum in Biloxi, MS on Sunday, April 18 at 6:00 p.m. Tickets are $20 and $8 in advance or $25 and $10 at the door. Tickets may be purchased by calling 1-800-726-2781 or by visiting www.ticketmaster.com.

No doubt fans will be treated to some of Trace Adkins' biggest hits including, "Every Light In The House Is On," ("This Ain't) No Thinkin' Thing," "I Left Something Turned On At Home," "Chrome," "I'm Tryin'" and his latest hit that's burning up the charts, "Hot Mama."

Since launching his career in 1996 with his platinum-selling debut Dreamin' Out Loud, Adkins has registered a string of hits and he is now considered one of the most recognizable voices in contemporary country music today. The Opry member has also won dozens of industry awards and appeared on countless national television shows.

Adkins' career was propelled to a whole new level in 2003. His Greatest Hits Collection, Volume 1 made its debut on the country charts at #1 and was certified gold just a few months later. He racked up two more huge hits with "Then They Do," his ode to fatherhood that inspired a book published by Rutledge Hill Press, and "Chrome," that led to NASCAR naming a Busch Series race "The Trace Adkins Chrome 300." However, Adkins received what he claims to be the biggest honor of his life when he was inducted as a member of the prestigious

Grand Ole Opry.

In December of 2003, he released Comin' On Strong and broke his first week sales record for the second time in one year - a rare feat for an artist in any genre. The project has already produced the hit single, "Hot Mama" with a #1 video and has been critically acclaimed by People Magazine, USA Today and Entertainment Weekly, to name just a few. With so many personal and professional accomplishments to crow about, Adkins could easily and guiltlessly rest a bit on his laurels, but with such momentum, Adkins shows no signs of slowing down in 2004.

Delving into the acting world, Adkins recently made his comedic acting debut on an episode of the CBS sitcom, "YES, DEAR," and lends his voice for a third appearance on FOX's hit animated series, King of the Hill, in May. And as an often sought after guest star, he will make his second appearance on both Hollywood Squares and USA Network's Nashville

Star in April. With a devoted fan base, Adkins sells out nearly every concert he plays and is already booked to perform over 120 concerts this year. He says playing live is a big reason that he pursued a music career in the first place and the stage is what he enjoys most.

"I like to get on stage, have a good time, play with the boys and let the band rock. It's like being in an arrested state of development for 90 minutes," says Adkins.

Beauvoir to host 'Confederate Memorial Day' observance & 'Old South Picnic'

THE SEA COAST ECHO
The Jefferson Davis Home and Presidential Library will be celebrating Confederate Memorial Day on Saturday, April 24. This event is sponsored by the Mississippi Division, United Sons of Confederate Veterans and Beauvoir and consists of an Old South Picnic and Memorial Service.

The activities begin at 12:00 pm on the Lawn of Beauvoir House with an Old South Picnic. Plates, utensils and soft drinks will be provided. Participants are asked to bring a covered dish or two to add to the bounty of the potluck. Lawn chairs and blankets may also be brought to the event, as seating is limited.

The memorial service will begin at 2:00 pm at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and Confederate Cemetery at Beauvoir.

The service will include period music, military salutes and floral tributes. The featured speaker will be John French, Commander, Mississippi Division, United Sons of Confederate Veterans. Also in attendance will be Mrs. Lawrence L. Limpus, President General, United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Historians generally trace the origins of Confederate Memorial Day to the first decoration of graves in Friendship Cemetery by the ladies of Columbus, Mississippi in 1866. This custom was quickly adopted throughout the South. It became recognized as a Mississippi state holiday in 1906. This observance at Beauvoir of Confederate Memorial Day is one of hundreds held throughout the springtime across the South, to commemorate the valor and sacrifice of the Confederate soldier.

Confederate Memorial Day activities on April 24th are free and open to the public. The potluck begins at noon with the memorial service beginning at 2 pm. Regular admission is charged for entrance into Beauvoir House and museum buildings. For more information, call (228) 388-9074 or 1-800-570-3818.

Beauvoir, The Jefferson Davis Home and Presidential Library is a national historic landmark property of the Mississippi Division, United Sons of Confederate Veterans. It is located on U.S. Highway 90 in Biloxi, Mississippi. For more information, contact the Tours and Programs office at 228-388-9074.

New Orleans Opera comes to Diamondhead Country Club

The New Orleans Opera comes to Diamondhead Country Club on Sunday, April 18 with baritone Mark Rucker and mezzo-soprano Eugenie Grunewald.

When Mark Rucker sang Renato in Un ballo in maschera with Luciano Pavarotti for the Opera Company of Philadelphia, Opera magazine said of him, "If a star emerges in this performance his name is Mark Rucker. Here, Rucker sounds like a major addition to the ranks of genuine Verdi Baritones." As a winner of the second Pavarotti Competition in 1986, Mr. Rucker was seen not only in this production in Philadelphia, but also in the PBS telecast later that season. Since then he has performed to high praise throughout North and South America, as well as in Europe and Asia.

Recent engagements include appearances with the Vancouver Opera, Florida Grand Opera, Atlanta Opera and sang the title role of Macbeth for

Mark Rucker

Eugenie Grunewald

Opera Carolina.

Mr. Rucker recently made his debut at Carnegie Hall in a concert version of Verdi's La Forza del destino.

With her rich powerful voice, Eugenie Grunewald is noted as one of America's finest mezzo-sopranos, particularly acclaimed for her thrilling performances of Amneris in AIDA and Azucena in II TROVATORE.

Ms. Grunewald has appeared on opera and concert stages throughout this country and abroad. During the past season she appeared with the Hamburg Opera and the Teatro Real of Madrid.

A graduate of The Ohio State University, she has won numerous prestigious awards including the Enrico Caruso International Voice Competition.

Rachel Boston

Checking in with Rachel Boston

By Jacqueline Cutler
 © Zap2it

"American Dreams" is an accurate title for Rachel Boston, who plays Beth, JJ's (Will Estes) fiancée, on NBC's Sunday-night drama.

The former Miss Tennessee Teen is fulfilling her dreams. In addition to the role, she has a steady boyfriend, Brad Hargreaves, drummer for Third Eye Blind. They met when the band appeared on the show last year.

"Beth is a forward thinker in terms of 1965," Boston says of her character. "I am a student at the University of Pennsylvania and my fiancé is in Vietnam. I am exploring my feelings about the war. I want my fiancé home."

Featured Cecil B. DeMille gets TCM tribute

By Jay Bobbin
 © Zap2it

Legendary producer-director Cecil B. DeMille staged many Hollywood classics, but he also was a family man.

His granddaughter confirms that as an interviewee in "Cecil B. DeMille: American Epic," a new two-part Turner Classic Movies documentary airing Monday, April 5 and Wednesday, April 7. Cecilia DeMille Presley joins Charlton Heston (alias Moses in the second of her grandfather's two versions of "The Ten Commandments"), Angela Lansbury (a co-star of DeMille's "Samson and Delilah"), composer Elmer Bernstein and filmmakers Martin Scorsese and Steven Spielberg in recalling DeMille and his work.

Film historian Kevin Brownlow and his colleague Patrick Stansbury produced the special, narrated by Kenneth Branagh. "Kevin originally wanted to do it in an hour," she recalls, "and I told him, 'You're not going to be able to fit it into an hour.' He asked if I would support his efforts, and I told him I would on one condition: He had to tell the truth. There's been a lot said and written about Cecil B. DeMille, and about 90 percent of it is not true."

However, these are facts: The larger-than-life DeMille began one of the first passenger airlines; he was a founder of Paramount Pictures and the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, the organization that gives out the Oscars annually; his 1927 film "The King of Kings" opened the iconic Grauman's Chinese Theatre in Hollywood; and he suffered a heart attack while working on his 1956 remake of "The Ten Commandments," the final film he would direct.

"He raised me," DeMille Presley says. "My mother was next door, but once I was old enough, it wasn't hard to figure out where the most fun was. I traveled with him everywhere. He was just an endlessly fascinating man."

Horoscope This Week

By Caroline James - Zap2it

Aries (March 21 - April 20)

Everyone loves it when you get fiery and find a creative outlet. Your vision will inspire people to move and shake.

Taurus (April 21 - May 20)

Financial paperwork is the monkey on your back right now. Take care of it, and you'll be able to go out and play later.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)

You might start thinking big this week. That's certainly OK, just make sure you don't start spending big.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20)

The temptation to shop weighs on your mind, but moderation is your friend. Go bargain hunting instead.

Leo (July 21 - Aug. 21)

Cosmic activity suggests you wear your heart on your sleeve. Whisper sweet nothings to your dearest, who will respond in kind.

Virgo (Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)

Your home should be the place to which you can retreat. So why is it your burden as of late? Look into fixing that.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)

Impress people with your charm and ability to negotiate. Your talent for diplomacy will smooth over any disagreements.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 22)

You should consider starting a new health regimen or addressing a pressing health issue. Sleep could do you some good.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 20)

A day in bed will do wonders for the soul - and your outlook on life. You've been stressing yourself too much lately.

Capricorn (Dec. 21 - Jan. 19)

Keep secrets to yourself this week, especially if they involve love and romance. This is not the time to proclaim your feelings.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)

Make arrangements to meet up with an old friend this week. Take a chance and act on a wish of yours, and it might come true.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - March 20)

This is the week to get ahead at work. Be bold and assertive, and charm your superiors with your creative vision and drive.

Born this week:

Madness to the Masters, Nantz has front-row

By Ryan A. Berenz
© Zap2it

One tournament ends while another begins, making this a great week to be a sports fan.

On Monday, April 5, college basketball's national championship tips off in San Antonio, and beginning Thursday, April 8, the Masters tees off at Augusta National Golf Club in Augusta, Ga.

One lucky fan will enjoy the best seat in the house at both venues. CBS Sports veteran broadcaster Jim Nantz has had the privilege of calling both events for the past 19 years. "To be able to have those two events, back-to-back - tell me anybody who has it better than that," Nantz says, "and I say that being as humble and as grateful and honored as humanly possible. There's no better stretch of events than to have the national championship game on a Monday night and the next day, land at Augusta and walk the course, and mingle with all the world's best players as they prepare for the first major championship of the year."

The most renowned and storied tournament in golf, the Masters returns with coverage of the first two rounds on USA Network. Then, for the 49th consecutive year, CBS broadcasts the tournament's third and final rounds over the weekend. With Augusta National Chairman Hootie Johnson forgoing corporate TV sponsorship for a second straight year, the Masters will again air without commercial interruption. Last year's final round attracted 34.5 million viewers, the third-highest for a Sunday in tournament history, even with Tiger Woods falling out of contention.

In 2003, history was made as Mike Weir beat Len Mattiace on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff, making Weir the first left-handed player to win the Masters, and the first Canadian to capture a major tournament title. History will be made again this year as legend Arnold Palmer tees off for his 50th Masters. Palmer, who won the tournament four times (1958, '60, '62 and '64), is surpassed only by Jack Nicklaus' six victories. Chasing Palmer is Woods, who would tie Palmer with four green jackets should he win at Augusta this year.

Woods is the favorite this week, even though his reign as the world's No. 1 player has been challenged of late. With Woods not winning a major in 2003, and rival Vijay Singh surging and finishing No. 1 in Tour earnings, some began to wonder if Singh had closed the gap. Woods' win at the Accenture Match Play Championship in February silenced some of the "Tiger slump" speak, but it's become the nature of the game for a golfer to be judged on his performance in a single tournament instead of his consistency over time.

"Golf now has become like everything else in our society. It's all about, 'What have you done for me lately?'" Nantz says. "So we toss out: Vijay Singh's accomplishments and his win at Pebble Beach (in February), because he got beat early in the match play and Tiger won it. The point is, it all swings back and forth."

No one since Nicklaus has been able to maintain such a consistently high level of play as Woods has done, and a win in a major this year would solidify his spot at No. 1. "I think, in the end, you measure who's on top by who's winning major championships," Nantz says. "And I can almost guarantee this will not be another dry year for Tiger. He went without one in 2003, and I just don't see that happening again."

And it's almost guaranteed that a relatively obscure player or a dark horse will pull a major upset in 2004. Former unknowns such as Rich Beem, Ben

Tiger Woods looks to add another chapter to his legendary career when he shoots for his fourth title in the Masters, which USA Network and CBS broadcasts Thursday through Sunday, April 11.

Curtis and Shaun Micheel capturing majors over the past two years demonstrates the high level of competition from the top to the bottom of the PGA ranks. "The fringe fan began to wonder, 'Wait a minute. If Tiger's not playing in this tournament, it's not legitimate. Tiger would've beaten all these guys if he was in the field,'" Nantz says. "But for those of us who've been around the game long enough, you know that in any given week, a Shaun Micheel or a Ben Curtis can jump up and win a tournament. A John Daly can reemerge from oblivion and win a PGA Tour event as he did back in February at Torrey Pines. And I think all these first-time winners of a major have given legitimacy to a lot of other tournaments out there when Tiger is not in the field. ... The game has seen a little bit of the wealth spread around. That's good."

Former 'Charmed' star now on 'Nip/Tuck'

By Taylor Michaels
© Zap2it

Q Please tell me about the actor who played Cole on "Charmed." Has he been in any other shows or movies? - "RebaMcFree" via e-mail.

A Julian McMahon, 35 and a native of New South Wales, Australia, was no stranger to U.S. TV audiences when he joined "Charmed" in 2000 as Cole Turner, a role he played until 2003.

After a successful career in television and theater Down Under, McMahon made his Stateside TV debut in 1992 as Ian Raine on the soap opera "Another World," where he worked for two years. Next, he co-starred in NBC's Saturday night thriller "Profiler" (1996-2000).

These days, the actor is enjoying new success as amoral cosmetic surgeon Christian Troy on the FX adult hit "Nip/Tuck," which begins a new season in June. By the time this appears, you also may find McMahon onscreen in the movie comedy "Meet Market," which also stars Elizabeth Berkley,

Julian McMahon

Susan Egan ("Nikki"), Aisha Tyler ("Friends") and Alan Tudyk ("Firefly").

The son of former Australian Prime Minister Sir William McMahon, the actor has been married and divorced twice; to actress Dannii Minogue (sister of Kylie, the singer) and to "Dog Eat Dog" host Brooke Burns, with whom he has a daughter, Madison.

Q Who sings the beautiful title song on "Joan of Arcadia"? -Robert Schneider, Englewood, Fla.

A Joan Osborne sings "One of Us." The song is on her compact disc "Relish."

Q My friend insists that William Petersen of "CSI: Crime Scene Investigation" lost his legs in an accident and now has artificial ones. She can't be right, can she? -Deb Hofer, York, Neb.

A No, it is Petersen's "CSI" castmate Robert David Hall (Dr. Al Robbins) who lost his legs due to injuries from a 1978 accident. He uses prosthetic limbs today.

Q Will "Reno 911" be returning anytime soon to Comedy Central? -Paula Matzek, Mount Prospect, Ill.

A Yes, a 13-episode season of the hit comedy series premieres June 9. The DVD release of the first season should take place around the same time.

Showtime special explores crazy world of tribute bands

By John Crook
© Zap2it

Back in the late '90s, Rich Fox went to a performance by Sheer Heart Attack, a "tribute band" that played music by the defunct rock group Queen.

Fox went in the door looking for some cheap laughs. He left with the idea for a documentary.

Three years in the making, "Tribute: A Rockumentary" - which premieres Monday, April 5, on Showtime - takes viewers inside the weird, intense, funny and occasionally tragic world of tribute bands, exploding many a preconception in less than 90 minutes.

"We went to see Sheer Heart Attack kind of as a joke, thinking it was going to be pretty ridiculous," Fox recalls. "The whole thing blew us away, though. It was amazing how passionate they were, how into it the fans were. It was campy and hilarious, and it seemed that many of the people there didn't get how funny it was, yet I totally got how they were so into it."

"That made me start thinking: Why are these talented musicians spending this much talent and energy emulating someone else, and why are the fans so into it?"

The appeal for fans was fairly easy for Fox to grasp. Like a young Californian in the documentary who, appropriately, calls himself Superfan to describe his dedication to Sheer Heart Attack, the 35-year-old Fox never had a chance to see Queen in concert before lead singer Freddie Mercury's AIDS-related death in 1991.

"A big reason Superfan is in so much of the movie is that I really related so much to what he was going through when (Sheer Heart Attack) was breaking up. I totally got it," Fox explains. "These guys were playing the entire side of obscure Queen albums from 1974, catering to hardcore fans. I had never met that many fans of this music, yet here was this club filled with people enjoying it."

"There were people there, though, both among the musicians and the fans, that I could tell were very obsessive about the whole thing, and that felt kind of disturbing."

That's the darker side to the tribute-band scene, because while some of these mostly middle-aged musicians use these concerts as a healthy release from their mundane daily jobs, others begin to lose themselves in their rock personas.

Such was the sad case of Andy Patche, the co-founder of a KISS tribute band called Larger Than Life, who suffered a meltdown when he blurred the line between himself and his onstage persona, rocker Gene Simmons.

Ironically, when we first see Patche in the documentary, he is reflecting on exactly that dangerous head trip some tribute musicians fall into.

"You have to look at what it's about, because when you're doing a tribute band, you basically have to become someone else, so you have to keep it together and not lose touch with yourself," Patche says on film. "I know some of the other Genes out there (who) have trouble discerning between themselves and the character they're playing. And they turn into (jerk)."

That's pretty much what happened to Patche himself, relates Jay Harris, the level-headed professional truck driver who steps into the platform boots of Paul Stanley for Larger Than Life concerts. Harris was center stage in every respect as he watched Patche gradually vanish inside Simmons' flamboyant stage persona.

"It was very sad, because I had just begun to feel like I knew Andy and we were living across the street from one another," Harris recalls. "He was just a troubled guy, with a lot of problems, and he didn't really know how to handle what was going on in his personal life. The KISS band was his ticket to escape from all that, but his problems, including a bipolar disorder and other stuff, actually started erupting more after he started the tribute band thing."

The situation came to a startling head one night when Patche narrowly escaped death after he allegedly set his own house on fire.

"I don't know what he was thinking, but he was sitting on the couch as the house was going up around him," Harris says, "then he came out of his stupor, but instead of walking out the door, he threw himself through the (ground-floor) window, smashed through the glass and cut up his arms and legs. The officers found him just walking in circles out front and (humming to himself)."

Instead of facing felony arson charges, Patche was hospitalized and treated for his psychological disorder. He subsequently went through a religious conversion, renounced KISS and Larger Than Life, then eventually drifted back to the band where - somewhat incredibly - his bandmates welcomed him back, if a little nervously.

History repeated itself in the months that followed, however, and Patche eventually left the band again after several nasty disputes with his colleagues over bookings.

KISS has been supportive of the many tribute bands devoted to the group and its music, including Larger Than Life, a group highlighted in the Showtime special "Tribute: A Rockumentary" on Monday.

"They're out of touch with him, apparently, and I think they're a little concerned that his mental state may be deteriorating again," Fox says of Larger Than Life, which continues to perform with a new "Gene" they fly in from the East Coast for concerts.

"It wasn't purely (because) he was in a tribute band (that Patche suffered a breakdown)," Fox adds. "I think he was having trouble with his own identity already. Being in a tribute band helped give him an outlet, a chance to be someone else that got a lot of appreciation, and he just got wrapped up in that. He didn't have the discipline to draw a line and know where to stop it."

Yet if Patche's story makes for a powerful cautionary tale, "Tribute" doesn't suggest that such dire personal drama invariably dogs members of every tribute band. In fact, Harris says, he and his longtime Larger Than Life bandmates Jimmy Newell (as Peter Criss) and Val Popovic (as Ace Frehley) are having the time of their lives.

'Sesame Street' turns 35 and stays happily young at heart

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

It seems no one can even mention "Sesame Street" without smiling.

Over the years, legions of celebrities have visited the venerable neighborhood and during this season, the PBS show highlights these visits. "Sesame Street" may be the only show actors, musicians and dancers unanimously acclaim.

To kick off the 35th season, the show goes prime time with "Sesame Street Presents: The Street We Live On" Sunday, April 4 (check local listings).

"I think it is just playing, and the fact that the puppets have such lives," Lily Tomlin says, explaining why the show has drawn her back for repeat performances. She and "The West Wing" co-stars dance in the special. "If you are like me, you totally invest in that reality, that suspension of disbelief that they are real little creations. That's my inclination anyway."

"It's just playful, innocence, sweetness, goodness, foolishness and silliness all wrapped up together," she says.

All of those aspects are in the one-hour special, which repeats the next morning for preschoolers. In many ways, this is a typical show. For other programs, that could be mundane. But anyone who has ever watched a toddler recite the alphabet because fuzzy monsters are singing it, knows this is arguably the most influential show on television. The news is important, dramas great, and sitcoms funny, but what other show has prepared millions of children worldwide to read?

As always, the show is brought to viewers by a letter and a number, in this case "C" and 10. For those whose "Sesame Street" viewings predate Elmo, be aware the ditsy little monster hypnotizes youngsters. No matter what religion one is raising their children, they become Elmotarians once "Elmo's World" comes on.

Kevin Clash, the man behind Elmo, says, "I had no idea he would be this popular."

In his 24 years as a puppeteer on "Sesame Street," Clash cites working with Robert De Niro and Maya Angelou as among his favorites. But visiting the White House last year to tape a public service announcement about reading, with first lady Laura Bush, was pretty wonderful, too.

"The president was about to board a helicopter," Clash says. "And I asked the first lady if Elmo could go and wave to her husband. And she said, 'Sure.' And here I am, this black guy kneeling and waving (with Elmo on his hand) to the president. He looked confused, then he waved. I don't know if anyone has ever done that on the White House lawn before."

In the special, Grover, the spiciest creature on the show, takes Elmo for a taxi ride into the past, where they see "Sesame Street" as it was before Elmo came. They see the late Mr. Hooper, the wedding of Luis and Maria, and the birth of their daughter, Gabi.

As the street's fuzzy denizens gather, it is impossible to stay, well, a grouch. That delightful feeling of good will lasts with the stars, as well.

"I was in New York, feeling very blue," Cher says. "I turned on 'Sesame Street.' I am not alone. There's 'Sesame Street.'"

Norah Jones recalls watching Bert and Ernie going fishing, and Ernie calls out, "Here, fishy, fishy," and the fish leap onto his boat. "For five years, I thought that was how you fished," Jones says.

Doris Roberts adds, "My favorite thing about 'Sesame Street' is all 35 years."

Road to Cup goes through New Jersey, says

ESPN's Melrose

By George Dickie
© Zap2it

The New Jersey Devils have won three of the last nine Stanley Cups, yet they often find themselves playing second or third fiddle, recognition-wise, in the New York area to the Rangers and Islanders.

Worse, that situation probably won't be changing anytime soon. "They'll never get the recognition in the New York area because 90 percent of the fans are Ranger fans," ESPN hockey analyst Barry Melrose says. "You know, the Rangers have missed the playoffs seven years in a row and their building's still packed and they're still on the front page, and the Devils have won the Stanley Cup three of the last (nine) years and they're on page four. Unfortunately for the Devils and us at ESPN, that's the way it is in New York."

This week, the Stanley Cup playoffs get under way Wednesday, April 7, with the conference quarterfinals (which ESPN and ESPN2 broadcasts), and Melrose sees Martin Brodeur, Patrick Elias and the rest of the Devils once again as a team to beat. "Well, the road to the Stanley Cup in the East goes through New Jersey," he says. "You can say what you want, certainly, with Scott Stevens out of the lineup - they're not the same team. But they find a way to win. Elias, (Scott) Gomez, (Brian) Gionta - that line has been as good a line as there is in the NHL right now. Brodeur just got his 30th win. He set a record for consecutive seasons of 30 wins, and with him in net, you have a chance to win every night, and that's why they're scary. If they could ever get Stevens back for the playoffs, again, they're one of the favorites."

So, in Melrose's mind, are two teams from the Northeast Division, the Toronto Maple Leafs and the Ottawa Senators. "It depends on (Toronto goaltender Ed) Belfour. If Belfour's healthy, I think the Leafs can beat Ottawa and Boston. I think the Leafs are the best team. But if Belfour's not healthy, I think Ottawa is the best team. I think Boston's good, but I don't think they're as deep or deep enough to beat either Toronto or Ottawa."

"But it comes down to goaltending," Melrose continues. "Belfour's the best goalie of the three teams ... Whoever gets the best goaltending of the three teams will win. So it comes down to (Boston's Andrew) Raycroft, (Ottawa's Patrick) Lalime and Belfour, as far as I'm concerned, because those teams are very even."

The Tampa Bay Lightning could also be a factor. "Tampa Bay is as good a team as there is in hockey right now," Melrose says. "(Martin) St. Louis and (Brad) Richards have been the two hottest scorers in the NHL since Dec. 18. (Vincent) Lecavalier is starting to score. (Darryl) Sydor was a great pickup. This is a very good hockey team with good goaltending."

"If you look at the teams that have won the East - apart from New Jersey - they've come out of the Southeast Division, and that is Washington and Carolina. So, Tampa Bay is in that division, and maybe (there is) something about that division in that only they can win - except for New Jersey - in the East."

Melrose feels the Colorado Avalanche, the 2001 champions, are the best team in the Western Conference. "I like their depth," he says. "They've got six of the best forwards in the world. You've got defensemen (Rob) Blake and (Adam) Foote. And (goalie David) Aebischer has been great. Aebischer has been better than they could have hoped for, and I still think that guys like (Steve) Kozlowski and players like that give them a good deal of depth, also. So, I think someone's got to beat Colorado to come out of the West, as far as I'm concerned."

Might that be the star-laden Detroit Red Wings, the Cup champs in 2002? "We've got to find out about goaltending," Melrose says. "(Curtis) Joseph has got that bad ankle. Anyone who knows anything about hockey knows that an ankle is a very tough injury for a goaltender to come back from. And Cujo, that's a tough situation anyway. With the (Dominik) Hasek situation, they were trying to get rid of Cujo. Now Cujo's the savior and things like that, so I think Colorado's the best team in the West right now, though they're not playing the best."

"NASCAR Racing" Sunday, April 4 (Fox, 1 p.m. ET): If Ryan Newman could transfer his pole position results to the actual races, he'd be virtually unbeatable. Newman racked up two poles in the season's first four starts, but he had only one top-five finish to show for it. Last season, Newman was the top qualifier 11 times, posting two of his eight wins from that spot. His first 2003 win came in the Samsung/Radio Shack 500, a title he defends today at Texas Motor Speedway in Fort Worth.

"MLB Baseball" Sunday, April 4 (ESPN2, 8 p.m. ET): Pedro Martinez and the Boston Red Sox take on A.L. East rival Baltimore as "Sunday Night Baseball" begins its 15th season. Both teams made major roster moves over the winter with an eye toward unseating division champion New York. Curt Schilling was the big addition for the Sox, who also added closer Keith Foulke. The Orioles will get a big boost from new shortstop Miguel Tejada, whose 594 consecutive games played leads all active players.

"College Basketball" Monday, April 5 (CBS, 9 p.m. ET): March Madness commenced in Dayton, Ohio, on March 16 with a 65-team field. Three weeks later, two teams are still standing, each looking for its sixth tournament victory to cap a national championship season. Will a No. 1 seed emerge with the championship trophy held high overhead at game's end? Or is a Cinderella story waiting for the final chapter to be written? Jim Nantz and Billy Packer call the action from San Antonio.

Movie: King Ralph

The entire immediate British royal family exits stage right in this 1991 comedy based on the Emlyn Williams novel. In a desperate attempt to find a leader, genealogists discover a very remote link to Ralph Jones (John Goodman), a crass lounge singer from Las Vegas. Peter O'Toole, John Hurt, Joely Richardson and Leslie Phillips co-star.

Movie: My Father, the Hero

A 14-year-old girl (Katherine Heigl, "Roswell") meets a hunky youth (Dalton James, "Passions") while on vacation in the Caribbean with her dad (Gerard Depardieu). To make herself seem more mature, she tells the boy the older man isn't her father, but her lover. Soon everyone's snubbing Pop as a pervert, a situation that isn't improved by his choice of a song at the resort's talent night: "Thank Heaven for Little Girls."

Movie: Forever Young

A 1930s test pilot (Mel Gibson) volunteers to be frozen in a cryogenic experiment led by his best friend, Harry (George Wendt), after his true love is injured in a car accident. Something goes awry and he wakes up 50 years later. Apparently, he was forgotten and locked away in an Army warehouse. Helped by a divorced nurse and her son, he tries to uncover what became of his friend and his love. Jamie Lee Curtis, Elijah Wood and Isabel Glasser also star.

Movie: Return to Snowy River

As with "The Man From Snowy River," this 1988 sequel showcases gorgeous scenery and excellent cinematography by Keith Wagstaff. Tom Burlinson again plays Jim, who returns to claim his love, Jessica (Sigrid Thornton). Her father (Brian Dennehy) is as against the match as he ever was. Jim must convince Jessica to start a new life with him as a rancher's wife.

TV Trivia

Yul Brynner ("The Ten Commandments") was hired by the Office of War Information to be an announcer for its French radio service.

Rachel Weisz ("The Shape of Things") won the Critics' Circle Best Newcomer award for her role in the play "Design for Living."

Elizabeth Pena ("Aldrich Ames: Traitor Within") gave her demo tape to a studio security guard, and received an audition call 45 minutes later.

Michael Clarke Duncan ("The Whole Nine Yards") was noticed by a stage producer, who hired Duncan as a security guard.

Laurence Harvey ("The Alamo") was born in Lithuania and raised in South Africa, where he served in the military during WWII.

All My Children

Erica was devastated when Bianca rejected her as her mother, and spurned Jack's offer of comfort. After receiving a mysterious phone call, Erica drank some wine, packed a suitcase and left for parts unknown. Babe got Bianca to promise to look after Bess should Babe not make it through her medical crisis. As Babe drifted in and out of consciousness, she heard parts of Paul's admission of guilt. J.R. reached out to Jamie, asking him to be a part of their family again. Greenlee shocked Reggie and Danielle when she offered to let Danielle stay at the penthouse. Reggie and Danielle ended up in police custody after Danielle got them locked in a music store overnight. Coming: The hunt is on to find Erica.

As the World Turns

Jordan overheard Barbara's discussion with Walker about her possible brain tumor but agreed to keep her secret. Rosanna revealed a connection with Jordan as she stared at his picture in her file. Craig bought some time when Rosanna ordered him to sign divorce papers immediately. Put on the spot by Rosanna to choose between her and Paul, Carly told Paul she's favoring her sister. Alison had an unpleasant encounter socializing with some of Chris' female colleagues, who ignored her. Bonnie returned, but told Ben she's keeping a secret. Pilar orchestrated a spat between Mike and Katie as part of her devious plan. Coming: Jack digs deeper into Rosanna's activities.

Bold and Beautiful

Brooke wasn't ready to accept Nick's proposal but was deeply moved when he wrote and performed a special song for her. Jackie was so thrilled to hear

Deacon relate how Nick's song was a hit with Brooke that Deacon seized the moment and kissed her, but Jackie reminded Deacon that she's happily married. After telling Amber that a rich girl broke his heart when he was young, Hector saw Samantha - the girl from his past - and coldly dismissed her. Meanwhile, Caitlin accepted Samantha's offer of an internship at Logan Designs but didn't tell her father. Coming: Hector's past troubles affect others now.

Days of Our Lives

After seizing the evidence Doug wrote against her in his own blood, Marlena prepared to kill Alice to protect her secret. Bo and Hope found Alice sitting peacefully in a chair, but she died before naming the killer. Marlena confessed to John that she killed Alice. As they struggled for John's gun, Marlena fell off the terrace but landed on an awning, which saved her life. When Marlena regained consciousness, her first words were, "I'm innocent!" With Belle still trapped by her lie, an unaware Shawn proposed. News of Alice's death and Marlena's guilt caused Jennifer to suffer more pains and she was rushed to the hospital. Brady's suspicions of Nicole returned after John shared police information. Coming: Why did Marlena do it?

General Hospital

Mary got closer to convincing Nikolas that he's her husband, but stopped short of making love when she realized he was just going through the motions. Meanwhile, Emily found her way to Mary's door. Alcazar's sight began to return but he concealed it from Carly. Luke and Skye finally opened up about their feelings and shared a kiss. Launching their scheme to split Dillon and Georgie, Sage photographed Georgie nude in the locker room and intended to make it appear as though

Soap Synopsis

George is selling porno on the hospital's computer. Courtney and Jason finally admitted that they still love each other. Coming: Elizabeth hands Ric a shocker.

Guiding Light

Mel gave birth to her and Rick's baby girl with their families joyously celebrating, particularly Ed. Carrie, who was shot but escaped on the fateful night, ambushed Reva in the tunnels, knocking her out cold. Harley produced a recorder that caught Reva and Carrie's encounter, but Marah panicked on learning that Carrie is alive. Lizzie took baby Emma until the child's crying forced her to bring Emma to Phillip. When Olivia turned up and lashed out at Lizzie, Phillip took full responsibility. Eden and Gus mended their relationship. Determined to do something about the drug problem, Gus went undercover and made a drug buy. Coming: Reva and Christopher try to help Marah.

One Life to Live

As Starr's mental condition deteriorated, she began to hear voices and ended up in an Internet chat room, claiming to be 15 years old, then she e-mailed her photo (made up to look older) to one of the participants. Kelly panicked when Kevin learned that Ace has a rare blood type, fearing her secret will be exposed. Blair admitted to Todd she now knows he didn't rape her, but insisted they have no future together. Coming: Todd carries out his plan to destroy Kevin.

Passions

Theresa was in big trouble with the law after being caught trying to flee with Little Ethan. Theresa exploded and had to be subdued by guards upon learning that Ethan and Gwen are adopting her son. Although Ethan went along with Gwen's plan, he privately intended to give the child back to Theresa once he gets custody. Alastair ordered Beth to do his bidding, which could involve spying, or murder. Luis nearly found the secret safe in Alastair's office. Pilar got more bad news about her health. With Eve worrying about her missing son, Julian went to confront his father. Coming: Luis makes a big discovery.

Young and Restless

Ashley gave Nikki her permission to tell Victor about Abby, as long as she does it immediately. The women were unaware that as Victor looked after Abby, she revealed seeing Ashley on TV saying he was her daddy. Ignoring Michael's warning to stay away from Lauren, Kevin swore her to secrecy, then admitted that he burned down Gina's and had sex with Lily. Paul figured out that Kevin confessed but Lauren refused to turn him in. Colleen acted as if she understood when J.T. said that Shiloh felt she shouldn't go to L.A. with them. Victor surprised Neil by naming him as a possible choice to become CEO of Newman Enterprises. Coming: Abby's outburst has serious consequences.

Soap Talk

Death doesn't deter Reynolds

By Paulette Cohn
© Zap2it

James Reynolds (ex-Abe) Carver, "Days of Our Lives" may have fallen prey to the Salem slasher, but it certainly didn't kill his viability with the folks who choose the Daytime Emmy nominees.

Reynolds, who received the nod for the outstanding supporting actor award, is the only thespian from "Days" to make the short list. His competition includes William DeVry (ex-Michael Cambias, "All My Children"), Rick Hearst (Ric Lansing, "General Hospital"), Ron Raines (Alan Spaulding, "Guiding Light") and Christian LeBlanc (Michael Baldwin, "The Young and the Restless"). Reynolds was nominated in 1991 for his role in the short-lived "Generations."

Before Reynolds jets to New York for the awards show, airing live from Radio City Music Hall, Friday, May 21, on NBC, the former Marine and Vietnam War veteran visited armed-forces schools in Iceland to spread his stay-in-school message via the USO's Celebrity Education touring program.

In other Emmy news, this year's Lifetime Achievement Award will go to 10 daytime actors: Rachel Ames, John Clarke, Jeanne Cooper, Eileen Fulton, Don Hastings, Anna Lee, Ray MacDonnell, Frances Reid, Helen Wagner and Ruth Warrick.

The breakdown of Emmy nominations is: "ATWT," 14; "AMC," 14; "GH," 12; "GL," 12; "OLTL," 10; "Passions," 7; "B&B," 5; "DOOL," 3; and "Port Charles," 2.

Dear Paulette: Please tell us what happened to Bridget (Emily Harrison) in "The Bold and the Beautiful" - AliceAnn Wertz, Bend, Ore.

Dear Reader: According to a spokesperson for the daytime drama, Harrison still is under contract. Right now, Bridget is on the back burner as the show is focusing on other story lines.

Dear Paulette: Who writes or produces the soap "Days of Our Lives"? How can we send comments about the show, as we do not have Internet access? -Mrs. P. Hodel, Paradise, Calif.

Dear Reader: James E. Riley is the head writer for "Days of Our Lives" and Ken Corday is the executive producer. Letters to both can be sent to: "Days of Our Lives," 3000 W. Alameda, Burbank, CA 91523. They do read all their mail.

The Bernie Mac Show
Bernie (Bernie Mac) tires of denying himself fun to keep his home childproof, so he decides to keep a motorcycle he received as a gift in the new episode "Easy Rider." After he has an accident with the bike, he has an "It's a Wonderful Life"-like vision suggesting what life in the household would be like without him. Jordan (Jeremy Suarez) tries to peddle Bernie's adult magazines to classmates.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC
Peter Jennings Reporting

With so much general conversation of religious matters lately, and with Easter approaching, the time seems appropriate for the "World News Tonight" anchorman's new three-hour special "Jesus and Paul — The Word and the Witness." Jennings talks with scholars about their various perspectives on the roots of Christianity, particularly in terms of Paul's role in the movement following the death and resurrection of Jesus.

7th Heaven

Martin's (Tyler Hoechlin) father, played by guest star Costas Mandylor ("Picket Fences"), makes a temporary return from military duty in Iraq to help his son decide on a possible future in pro baseball in "Healing Old Wounds." Roxanne (Rachel Blanchard) figures into the rift that develops between them, and she has her own argument with Martin's aunt (guest star Keri Lynn Pratt) over the situation in Iraq.

Monday Best Bets

7 p.m. and AMC

Movie: Harry and the Hendersons

Harry is the mythical creature Bigfoot. The Hendersons are a vacationing family who accidentally run over Harry. At first, the Hendersons think Harry is dead and decide to take him home for a proper burial. But they soon discover he's alive and well (and played by Kevin Peter Hall, who also was the movies' first "Predator"). John Lithgow ("3rd Rock From the Sun"), Melinda Dillon and Don Ameche star in this 1987 fantasy film.

7:30 p.m. on 54-UPN

Eve

Happy that J.T. (Jason George) feels ignored by hard-working Shelly (Eve), his mother (guest star Daphne Maxwell Reid) tries to fix him up with another woman (guest star Kelly Rowland) in "Twice the Fight Before Christmas." Doherty's (Sean Maguire) ex-girlfriend (guest star Erinn Carter) wants to lure him back to England. Daphne Zuniga ("Melrose Place") also guest stars.

9:10 p.m. on TBS

Movie: Turner & Hooch

A fastidious police detective (Tom Hanks) and a sloppy, slobbering canine are the Felix and Oscar of this 1989 odd-couple comedy. The dog, whose owner was slain by a shady out-of-towner, helps his reluctant new buddy solve both the murder and the money-laundering plot that brought the killer to town. Turner, of course, learns to love Hooch despite all the drool; he does his own share of drooling when he meets the local vet (Mare Winningham).

7 p.m. and BRAV

Movie: Far and Away

Tom Cruise and Nicole Kidman star in this romantic saga about two Irish immigrants to the United States and their dreams of a new life during the Oklahoma land rush. Filmed in Ireland and Montana, the 1992 drama was directed by Ron Howard and co-stars Thomas Gibson, Robert Prosky, Barbara Babcock and Colm Meaney.

Tuesday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

8 Simple Rules

The emotionally confused Bridget and Kerry (Kaley Cuoco, Amy Davidson) take a road trip after seeing their mother (Katey Sagal) in the arms of their late father's newspaper successor (guest star Artie Anderson) in the conclusion of the new two-part episode "Let's Keep Going." Rachel (guest star Nicole Mansour) makes an admission to Rory (Martin Spanjers). Singer-actor Mac Davis ("North Dallas Forty") also guest stars.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Gilmore Girls

Although she's overloaded by work, Rory (Alexis Bledel) resists a professor's recommendation to drop one of her classes in "The Incredible Sinking Lorelais." She learns on ex-boyfriend Dean (Jared Padalecki). Lorelai (Lauren Graham) seeks Luke's (Scott Patterson) support when she is overwhelmed by being out of touch with Rory and getting the Dragonfly Inn ready for its opening.

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Whoopi

Mavis (Whoopi Goldberg) suspects Rita (Elizabeth Regan) of identity theft in the new episode "Identity Crisis." Someone else claims to be Mavis, whose credit cards and assets are frozen as a result. Rita tries to help by getting her friends to throw a poker game, in order to allow Mavis to win the money pot automatically.

I'm With Her

After one too many barbs from his co-workers about dating Alex (Teri Polo), Patrick (David Sutcliffe) decides to let them judge her for themselves in the new episode "Friends in Low Places." When he takes her to a barbecue staged by another teacher (guest star Wayne Knight, "Seinfeld"), she makes such a splash, the school principal (guest star Dave Foley, "NewsRadio") asks if his daughter can have her wedding at Alex's home.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Jack (Kiefer Sutherland) is stunned to discover that a past acquaintance (guest star Paul Blackthorne) thought dead is very much alive — and very much a part of Jack's present concerns — in the new episode "Day 3: 5:00 AM — 6:00 AM." President Palmer (Dennis Haysbert) is left with no choice but to face the press in a televised news conference.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

Century City

Circa 2030, a doctor (guest star Richard Thomas, "The Waltons") is sued by a couple for failing to disclose his discovery that their son would be born gay in the new episode "Sweet Child of Mine." After his then-girlfriend stole his identity through electronic means, a man takes it back following their breakup — only to be accused of robbery. Enrico Colantoni ("Just Shoot Me") also guest stars.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Frasier

Frasier (Kelsey Grammer) hopes to look no further than his matchmaker (guest star Laura Linney, "Mystic River") for female companionship in the new episode "Miss Right Now." He ends up distressed when he learns she has a boyfriend (guest star Aaron Eckhart, "Erin Brockovich"), prompting Roz (Peri Gilpin) to suggest that Frasier go to a singles bar. Jennifer Tilly guest stars as a woman he encounters there.

Rock Me Baby

George Wendt ("Cheers") and Mary Gross ("Saturday Night Live") guest star as Beth's (Blanca Kajlich) visiting parents in the new episode "No So Grandparents." They don't seem very eager to spend time with their infant grandson, which dismays Beth and Jimmy (Dan Cortese). Jimmy also is distressed over his father-in-law's intention to become a radio star.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

Judging Amy

Fresh evidence compels Amy (Amy Brenneman) to reconsider the case of Danny Hawkins (guest star Mark Devine), who was convicted of killing his wife, in the new episode "The Quick and the Dead." Maxine (Tyne Daly) is shocked to learn the business purposes a professional photographer uses her children for. Kyle (Kevin Rahm) is affected profoundly by his tour of duty in the coma ward. Jon Polito ("Homicide: Life on the Street") guest stars.

Alexis Bledel

7 p.m. on 38-WB
Smallville

Determined to avoid the electroshock therapy intended for him, Lex (Michael Rosenbaum) plots his escape from the hospital by teaming with villains who know the impact kryptonite can have in "Asylum." Clark (Tom Welling) becomes a pawn in the scheme, which gets out of Lex's control. Lana (Kristin Kreuk) feels drawn to a stranger (guest star Ian Somerhalder, "The Rules of Attraction").

7 p.m. on FAM
Movie: Romy and Michele's High School Reunion

Oscar winner Mira Sorvino ("Mighty Aphrodite") should have gotten another one for this; after all, it took some serious talent for this Harvard graduate to play such a ditz. (Co-star Lisa Kudrow, a Vassar grad, earned her Ph.D. in ditsiness — and an Emmy — playing one on TV.) This 1997 comedy casts the two stars as 20-somethings who have nothing to brag about when their 10th reunion comes around ... unless they lie.

8 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX
The Swan

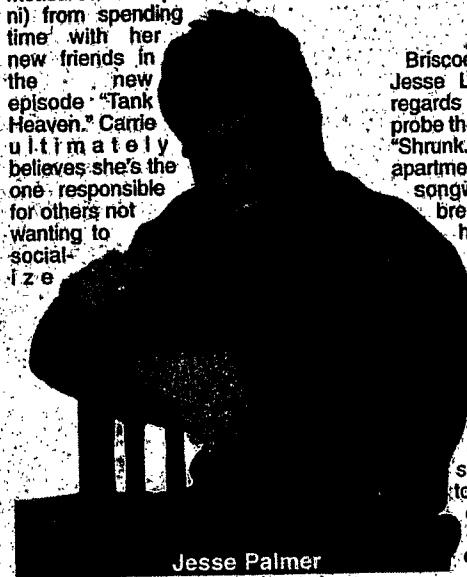

There's more to the makeovers than a change of wardrobe, makeup and hairstyle as this reality series debuts. It follows 18 women who seek a total transformation — and not just to their looks. We're talking psychotherapy, cosmetic surgery and more. Each episode follows two of the women, one of whom is sent home at the end; the other advances to the "Swan Pageant," where the subject of the most successful transformation is crowned.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC
The Bachelor

Relative unknowns to the general public usually have the task of choosing a companion among 25 contenders. But as this unscripted series begins its fifth round, the bachelor in question is someone with a degree of fame. He's NFL quarterback Jesse Palmer, who has played for the New York Giants in recent seasons. It should be interesting to see whether the women competing for his heart recognize him — and how he reacts if they do.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS
The King of Queens

Doug (Kevin James) takes drastic measures to keep Carrie (Leah Remini) from spending time with her new friends in the new episode "Tank Heaven." Carrie ultimately believes she's the one responsible for others not wanting to socialize.

Jesse Palmer

with her, so Doug tries to relent and give other new acquaintances a chance.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC
Law & Order

Briscoe and Green (Jerry Orbach, Jesse L. Martin) don't have many regards to give Broadway as they probe the murder of a young actress in "Shrunk." The victim was found in the apartment of a Tony Award-winning songwriter, and the supposed break-in that led to the killing may have been faked.

8 p.m. and DSC
RFK Assassination

Allegedly caused by a lone assassin — Sirhan Sirhan — at a Los Angeles political rally in 1968, the fate of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy has been debated ever since. This new special re-creates the tragedy to confirm or disprove conspiracy theories, with ballistic experts weighing in on whether other gunmen could have played roles in the murder. At the time, the Los Angeles Police Department withheld many of its findings.

9 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC
Stephen King's Kingdom Hospital

Mrs. Druse and Dr. Hook (Diane Ladd, Andrew McCarthy) use Peter's (Jack Coleman) drawings as a blueprint to glean information on the hospital's history from Mary and Paul (Jodelle Micah Ferland, Kett Turton) in the new episode "The Young and the Headless." A prank pulled on Dr. Lona Massingale (Sherry Miller) backfires in a big way.

9 p.m. on TBS

Movie: Tango & Cash

It's tough to be on the wrong side of the law, especially if you're an ex-cop. Ray Tango and Gabe Cash (Sylvester Stallone, Kurt Russell) are L.A. policemen who are at the top of their games when life as they know it comes crashing down on them. Framed for murder by a crime lord, the two are sent to prison, then break out and try to prove their innocence.

Thursday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

Tru Calling

Tru (Eliza Dushku) fears she has lost her special gift when she can't return to the previous day to change events for a newly deceased person in the new episode "Two Pair." She eventually does go back in time — but at another victim's request, forcing her to try to save both people in entirely different circumstances. The reasons for Jack's (Jason Priestley) presence become clearer.

7 p.m. and BRAV

Movie: The Professional

Luc Besson, the French filmmaker who scored with "La Femme Nikita," again concentrates on covert criminal activities with this effective 1994 hybrid of genres. Jean Reno ("Mission: Impossible") stars as a killer who alters his modus operandi when a young neighbor (Natalie Portman) becomes his companion following her parents' deaths. Gary Oldman co-stars as a corrupt cop.

7:32 p.m. on 6-NBC

Will & Grace

With his father's girlfriend (guest star Lesley Ann Warren) concerned that she has romantic competition, Will (Eric McCormack) agrees to find out if it's true in the new episode "I Never Cheered for My Father." In fact, there is another woman — Will's mother (guest star Blythe Danner). Jack (Sean Hayes) tries to help his son (guest star Michael Angarano) land a cheerleading slot.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

CSI: Crime Scene Investigation

A teenager is found slain at a construction site in "Coming of Rage." The boy died brutally, hit multiple times with a hammer. Grissom (William Petersen) leads the probe of that case while Nick (George Eads) investigates the shooting death of a woman on the other side of town. Brian A. Green ("Beverly Hills, 90210") guest stars.

8:59 p.m. on 6-NBC

ER

Dr. Weaver's (Laura Innes) firefighter partner (guest star Lisa Vidal) fights for life after being hurt on the job in the new episode "Where There's Smoke." The pregnant Dr. Lewis (Sherry Stringfield) is ordered to stay in bed. Dr. Gallant and Neela (Sharif Atkins, Parminder Nagra) worry about the probe of a death in which they were involved.

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

Joan of Arcadia

By heavenly request, Joan (Amber Tamblyn) tries to convince Adam (Christopher Marquette) to take his sculpture out of the school's art show in "The Devil Made Me Do It." She's frustrated not to know the reason she's been given the mission, especially since she's likely to damage Adam's trust in her. Will (Joe Mantegna) debates whether to declare a man who shot an intruder in his home a hero.

7 p.m. on AMC

Movie: The War of the Worlds

Based on the novel by H.G. Wells, producer George Pal's 1953 science-fiction movie follows the approach of Orson Welles's famous radio scare. When Martians invade Earth, humans bring out the big guns — but it seems as if nothing can stop the enemy. It may take something a wee bit smaller to save the world. Gene Barry, Ann Robinson and Les Tremayne star.

7:30 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

The Big House

Kevin (Kevin Hart) finds religion — or at least pretends to — in a bid to win the heart of a devout young woman (guest star Bianca Lawson), in the new episode "Almost Touched by an Angel." His decision to get baptized gives Tina (Arnetia Walker) a new way to approach her bid for a church board seat. Former "Family Matters" regulars Reginald VelJohnson and Jo Marie Payton guest star.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Hope & Faith

Hope (Faith Ford) is happy that her new newspaper job liberates her from Faith (Kelly Ripa) in the new episode "Hope Gets a Job." Not for long, though: The chatty Faith also lands a position at the paper, prompting Hope to resort to drastic means to silence her. Sydney (Nicole Paggi) hits the kitchen in preparation for the Great American Bake Sale.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

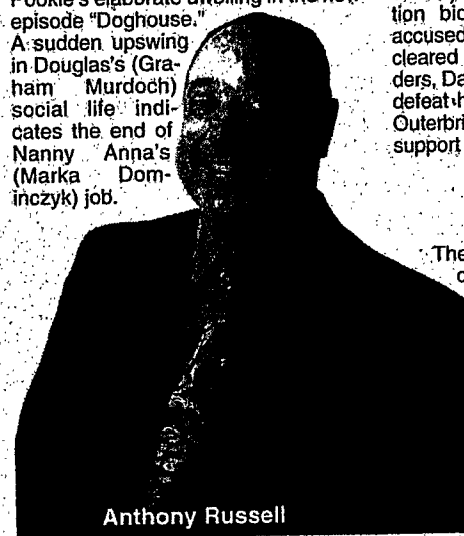

JAG

Dismissed by the CIA, Harm (David James Elliott) finds work as a crop-dusting pilot for an unusually mature teenager (guest star Halleé Hirsh, "ER") in "Back in the Saddle." Harm's JAG replacement (guest star Dana Sparks, "Falcon Crest") proves to have lied about her credentials, affecting everyone else's workload — and prompting Admiral Chegwidden (John M. Jackson) to consider bringing Harm back into the fold.

8:30 p.m. on 38-WB

The Help

While work is being done on her apartment, Maria (Camille Guaty) happily takes up residence in canine Pookie's elaborate dwelling in the new episode "Doghouse." A sudden upswing in Douglas's (Graham Murdoch) social life indicates the end of Nanny Anna's (Marka Dominiczky) job.

Anthony Russell

9 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

The D.A.

The drama series closes out its brief maiden season with "The People vs. Ahmed Abbas," as David (Steven Weber) considers ending his re-election bid over the discovery of an accused killer's body. If the victim is cleared of 10-year-old multiple murders, David may lose votes he needs to defeat his chief rival (guest star Peter Outerbridge). He also fears a lack of support among those in his office.

9 p.m. on 4-CBS

The District

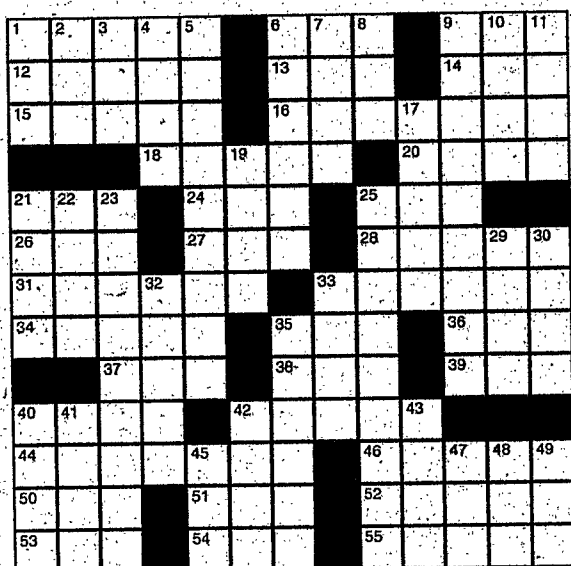

The clues yielded by a homicide cause Mannion (Craig T. Nelson) to fear that a long-unsolved serial murder case has been revived in "Jupiter for Sale." The detective (guest star John Savage, "The Deer Hunter") who led the original investigation returns to help solve the latest killing. Jean Smart and Jaclyn Smith reprise their recurring guest roles.

6 p.m. on TNT

Movie: Snake Eyes

Nicolas Cage stars in director Brian De Palma's 1998 thriller as a corrupt cop who finds himself at the center of a high-profile assassination in Atlantic City, N.J. The victim is the U.S. secretary of defense, gunned down at a boxing match while his bodyguard (Gary Sinise) is away from his side. The guard manages to kill the gunman, but the question is: Who put the assassin up to it? Carla Gugino and Kevin Dunn co-star.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Movie: The Road to El Dorado

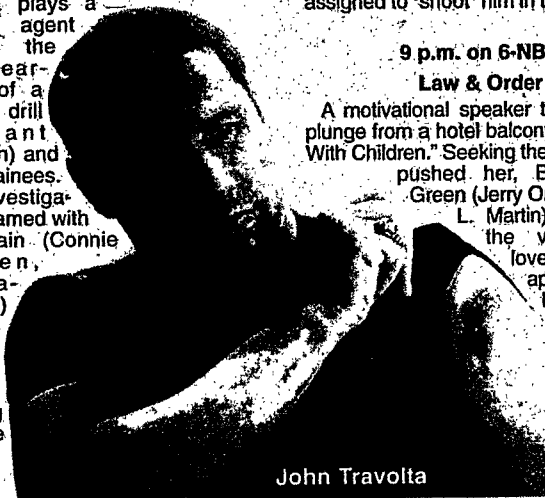

Elton John narrates this animated 2000 tale of two bumbling swindlers who stumble upon a great treasure. While pulling off one of their seedy scams, Tulio and Miguel (voices of Kevin Kline and Kenneth Branagh) find themselves holding the map to El Dorado, the legendary city of gold. After a series of mishaps and a disaster at sea, the two wash up on the shores of the fabled city — only to get an unexpected surprise.

John Travolta and Samuel L. Jackson made a memorable movie duo in "Pulp Fiction," and though they both star in this 2003 military mystery, don't bank on seeing them together much.

Travolta plays a DEA agent probing the disappearances of a fierce drill sergeant (Jackson) and some trainees. The investigator is teamed with a captain (Connie Nielsen, "Gladiator") who doesn't appreciate having to share her turf.

(Ratings for each film begin with a "star" rating - one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent" - followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"THE MATRIX REVOLUTIONS": The middle section of the Wachowski brothers' science-fiction trilogy took its hits from critics, but the finale is a spectacular, overwhelmingly visual wrap-up by any measure. Neo (Keanu Reeves) escapes his captors to play a pivotal role in an uprising against machines that are targeting the city of Zion. Trinity (Carrie-Anne Moss) again engages in the battle against enemies including Mr. Smith (Hugo Weaving), Laurence Fishburne and Jada Pinkett Smith also return. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; "making-of" documentaries; photo gallery; introduction to "The Matrix Online" game; links to official "Matrix" Web sites. *** (R: AS, P, V)
"CHEAPER BY THE DOZEN": Con-temperized a great deal from the original book and movie, this pleasing remake casts Steve Martin as a college-football coach and patriarch of a brood that includes 12 children. They relocate, then Mom (Bonnie Hunt) takes off on a tour to promote a book she's written - leaving the kids largely in charge of the house. The young co-stars include Hilary Duff, Tom Welling ("Smallville") and Piper Perabo ("Coyote Ugly"); Ashton Kutcher has an unbilled role. DVD extras: audio commentaries by director Shawn Levy and cast members; "making-of" documentaries; deleted scenes. *** (PG: P)
"PASSIONADA": Three generations of New Bedford, Mass., women are drawn together by heartbreak and the potential for new love in this well-acted comedy-drama. Sofia Milos ("CSI: Miami") plays a widow who devotes herself to her mother (Lupe Ontiveros) and teenage daughter (Emmy Rossum), until a flashy Englishman (Jason Isaacs, "The Patriot") crashes his way into her life. As captivated as she is by him, he's bad news, thanks to his losing streak at gambling. Theresa Russell and Seymour Cassel co-star. DVD extras: theatrical trailers; audio commentaries by cast members, director Dan Ireland, and screenwriters Jim and Steve Jernmanok; deleted scene. *** (PG-13: AS, P)

"HOPE SPRINGS": Colin Firth ("Love Actually") has more problems with romance in this light but engaging comedy-drama based on a novel by Charles Webb, the author of "The Graduate." Firth plays an artist who leaves England for the United States after discovering his fiancée's (Minnie Driver) intention to marry someone else. Upon his arrival in a small town called Hope, he makes the acquaintance of a nurse (Heather Graham), and love blossoms - but just when he's ready to commit, the woman who jilted him shows up. Mary Steenburgen and Oliver Platt also star. DVD extra: "making-of" documentary. ** (PG-13: AS, P)
"FRIENDS: THE COMPLETE SEVENTH SEASON": With the NBC comedy series' finale a month away, the latest season of the show to make its home-video debut focuses on the engagement of Monica and Chandler (Courteney Cox Arquette, Matthew Perry) and their wedding preparations. Notable guest stars include Susan Sarandon, Winona Ryder, Jason Alexander, Gary Oldman and Kathleen Turner, who plays Chandler's father ... yes, father. DVD extras: audio commentary on selected episodes by executive producers Marta Kauffman,

David Crane and Kevin Bright; "Friends of Friends, Part II" featurette offering interviews with guest stars; outtakes; "Monica's Wedding Book Challenge" trivia quiz. *** (Not rated: AS, P)
"CHARLIE'S ANGELS: THE COMPLETE SECOND SEASON": What might have derailed the female-private-eye series after its first year instead strengthened it, as Cheryl Ladd replaced Farrah Fawcett-Majors by playing Kris Munroe, the younger sister of the former co-star's character. Watching this compilation, it's easy - and fun - to see Ladd's confidence grow as she becomes more comfortable, once the heat of whether she'll help or kill the show passes. Kate Jackson and Jaclyn Smith continue as detectives Sabrina and Kelly, David Doyle plays Bosley, and John Forsythe still is the voice of Charlie. DVD extras: episode trailers. *** (Not rated: AS, P, V)

COMING SOON (Upcoming releases):

"KILL BILL, VOL. 1" (April 13): Quentin Tarantino's action saga stars Uma Thurman as a hit woman seeking revenge for the massacre staged on her wedding day. (R: AS, P, GV)
"THE HAUNTED MANSION" (April 20): A real-estate man (Eddie Murphy) can't help but check out a foreboding house he and his family pass en route to a vacation. (PG: P, V)
"MASTER AND COMMANDER: THE FAR SIDE OF THE WORLD" (April 20): Russell Crowe plays a British sea captain in this Oscar-winning adaptation of Patrick O'Brian's novels. (PG-13: P, V)
"WIN A DATE WITH TAD HAMILTON" (April 20): A small-town grocery clerk (Kate Bosworth) wins a contest to be the escort of a popular actor (Josh Duhamel). (PG-13: AS, P)

On TV

PBS' 'American Family' plumbs generations' nuances

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

The retooled PBS drama "American Family - Journey of Dreams," returning for a second season beginning Sunday, April 4 (check local listings), is a gripping saga tracing the Gonzalez's tragic flight from Mexico in 1915 to their lives in East Los Angeles today.

"In every house in America there is an epic story on how the family got there, the loss they suffered, the triumphs," says Gregory Nava ("El Norte"), creator and executive producer. "I want to tell that story for the people of this country. We are in a crisis, and people are questioning their everyday lives. I want to give people a human story they can identify with and can ultimately be uplifting about everything we are going through right now."

Told using a lot of flashbacks and with exquisite cinematography, the series feels much more like a movie than an episodic TV show, which is Nava's intention.

"Last season was an episodic show and this season, I did a miniseries," he says while on a break from editing. "It really is a miniseries, with 13 parts. There is a beginning, middle and a definite ending. It was shot like a movie."

Though viewers may not know the technical reasons for why this historical drama feels so real, they will instantly know that it feels right. Nava shot flashbacks to the Mexican Revolution in the towns where the battles were waged. He filmed modern day war scenes, supposedly in Iraq, in a desert outside Mexicali using Iraqi extras speaking Arabic to add to the authenticity.

Were this merely accurate, it could be a documentary. Instead it is, the tale, as the title states, of an American clan. The story has an otherworldly feel with ghosts popping up, and banks on the notion that there is something to blood knowledge and curses. At the heart of each character's makeup is the fact that he or she is linked to ancestors and much is passed from generation to generation.

The story opens with a family having a baby baptized as the Mexican Revolution breaks out. In the mass confusion, a young mother, carrying the baby, is separated from her two older children. The father is executed in front of his family, and it is clear the mother, Adela Gonzalez (Patricia Velasquez, "The Mummy"), is on her own with nothing.

Though viewers do not learn how Adela succeeds because the next scene is of her great-grandson's wedding procession in East Los Angeles in 2003. Festooned cars pull up to a home filled with a happy family presided over by patriarch Jess (Edward James Olmos, "Stand and Deliver"). His son, Esteban (Esai Morales, "NYPD Blue"), has just wed. (The season opener does a great job of filling in viewers who missed last season.)

Esteban is the black-sheep son: "I used to refer to him as a gangster," Morales says. "He wanted to be cool, and belong so much, he was affiliated (with gang members) and ended up getting in trouble."

Now Esteban starts a new life with his bride, Ofelia (Kate del Castillo), a ballerina from Mexico City. His older brother, Conrado (Yancey Arias, "Kingpin"), is the good son.

"My character is awesome," Arias says. "He tries to help people."

Conrado, in his Army dress uniform, confides in his father that he is shipping out to Iraq. An orthopedist, Conrado volunteered for this dangerous mission. As a Korean War veteran, Jess is shaken by the news, but being a staunch believer in the president, he is also deeply proud of his eldest son.

in flashbacks. The cast also includes Raquel Welch ("One Million Years B.C.") as Dora, Jess' sister.

"This cast is stellar in their own right," Arias says. "They are pretty much the heroes of film and television I grew up watching."

Esai Morales (left) and Yancey Arias are brothers in "American Family - Journey of Dreams" Sunday on PBS. "I'm the totally ignored second brother," Morales says of his character.
